ATHLETICS THIRD TIME CHAMPIONS OF WORLD

Plank Pitched Victory in Fifth and Deciding Game of Series

Veteran Mathewson Twirled Great Game to No Giant Advantage

GIANTS HELD TO TWO HITS

Mack's Third Elevation to Title of Universal Champion Manager and Fourth American League Champions.

New York, Oct. 11.—The Philadelphia Athletics won the baseball championship of the world for 1913 at the Polo Grounds this afternoon by defeating the New York Giants 3 to 1 in the fifth deciding game of the series.

With the score of games standing 3 to 1 in their favor, the American League representatives went in to clinch the series and before the masterly playing of the Mackmen the National Leaguers had absolutely no chance. Connie Mack, anxious to finish the struggle, sent Eddie Plank, his veteran southpaw, to the mound, and John McGraw, his back to the wall, called on Christy Mathewson to check the victorious rush of the Athletics.

Both old masters of curve and break responded nobly, but the Giants, unable to help Mathewson by even mediocre batting, fell victims to the vicious hitting, fast fielding combination which has again raised the standard of the American League over that of the National organization. The victory was a personal triumph for Plank, but the downfall of the Giants carried no odium for Mathewson, who besides pitching an excellent game with but two days of rest since his victory of Wednesday, made one of the two hits scored against his rival in the box.

Mathewson did not respond as promptly to the demands made upon him as did Plank, and lacking that wonderful offensive and defensive support which the Athletics accorded to their twirler, faltered just enough in the opening innings of the game to give the Mackmen a lead that the Giants were powerless to overcome. The top half of the Philadelphia club's batting order hit heavily when hits meant runs.

Mathewson faced a determined club swinging aggregation from the first moment he stepped into the box and before he could get his curves working smoothly the game had been won.

First Pitch a Hit.

Eddie Murphy, the first batter to stand at the plate, drove Mathewson's initial pitch through short for a single. Oldring attempted to sacrifice but forced Murphy at second. Collins came through with a single to right, putting Oldring on third. Burns caught Baker's line fly but the throw to the plate was too high for McLean and Oldring slid across with the first run.

The Athletics gathered in two more runs in the third. Murphy again opened the inning with a single through short. Oldring followed with a smash at Doyle who fumbled and the batter was safe, while Murphy scampered to second. Collins sacrificed the runners along a base each. Baker dribbled a Cincinnati base hit at Merkle, who tried for the batter and then for Murphy at the plate, missing both as a consequence. McInnis then scored Oldring from third with a sacrifice fly to Burns and the Athletics' run-making was at an end.

Giants Tally.

The Giants' lone run came in the fifth and was due to a peculiar break in the game that the home fans thought had marked the fall of the Athletics' wonderful defense. After Burns had filed to McInnis Plank temporarily lost control of the ball, walking Shafer. On a hit and run play Murray raised a high fly to the center of the diamond. Plank moved up a few steps to set himself for the catch and as Shafer had already reached second a double play appeared assured Baker upset the whole infield by rushing over from third and trying to take the ball from Plank. He jostled the pitcher just enough to make him drop the ball and both runners were safe while Plank was charged with an error because the ball touched his outstretched hand.

Some 36,000 fans now were rooting in real earnest. A base hit followed. Larry McLean was the Giant to deliver the hit to left center and Shafer made the trip from second to home in record time.

Fast Double.

Merkle drove a humming grounder at Collins who snapped it up and tossed to Barry, forcing McLean at second. Without a moment's hesitation, Barry flashed the ball to McInnis and Merkle was out by a step. It was one of the $100,000 infield's double plays that cut down opponents at critical periods of the game and it spelled the finish of the Giants as world's series contenders then and there.

From that point on Plank and the players back of him were never in trouble. The two-run lead grew more formidable as the game progressed and many of the fans began to leave the park at the end of the seventh inning. But for Baker's over-eagerness Plank would have been credited with pitching a one-hit, no-run game, but Plank did not bother to quibble about such little details. It was enough for him that he had won.

Plank Hero of Series.

Plank could well afford to be magnanimous, for he proved to be the pitching hero of the championship series. During the five games just completed Plank has pitched two games,

HEAVY SALES OF TOBACCO

September Broke All Records—Wilson Leads—Change in Internal Revenue Office—Four New Charters Granted.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 11.—According to report just issued by the State Department of Agriculture, there were sold on the tobacco markets of North Carolina during the month of September 47,344,030 pounds of loose leaf tobacco, the biggest September sales on record for North Carolina.

While there is no official record as to the prices it is certain that the prices have and are still ranging high. There were nearly 13,000,000 less sales of leaf during September, 1912, than during the month just closed. Commissioner Graham says something like 20 per cent of the markets are not included in the report just made for September, some warehouses having failed to report at all and others sent in reports too late to be included in the report.

The biggest sales were at Wilson, where five warehouses sold 7,488,125 pounds. Kinston was next with 5,665,189 pounds. Some of the other markets reporting largest sales were: Greenville 5,090,787; Rocky Mount 4,197,157; Winston-Salem 2,553,388; Farmville 2236,032; Durham 1,809,708 pounds.

I. M. Deaton, for a number of years chief clerk in the department of internal revenue here under E. C. Duncan, Wheeler Martin and under Collector J. W. Bailey since his recent appointment, resigns and will retire from the service at once, being temporarily succeeded by W. T. Delamar, who has been for quite a while cashier in the revenue office. Mr. Deaton will go into other business here. He has a farm near Raleigh and another in Montgomery, his home county. Collector Bailey is to make an appointment to the chief clerkship shortly.

Four new corporations were chartered today: The Winston-Salem Hebrew Congregation (Inc.) Winston-Salem, chartered for congregational purposes and ultimately establishing a synegogue. The incorporators are M. Marks, E. Robinson and others.

The Rex Lumber Co., Washington, N. C., capital $50,000 authorized and $4,000 subscribed by W. T. Hundnell and others.

Nash Telephone Co., Battleboro, capital $25,000 authorized and $2,500 subscribed for establishing rural telephone lines.

The Queen City Medicine Co., Marshville, capital $125,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed by Zeigler, J. E. Thomas and others.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—The condition of Lieut. Col. David DuB. Gaillard, of the Isthmian Canal Commission, undergoing treatment here, continues grave, but according to an official statement today, he is in no immediate danger of death.

COMMERCE COURT MAY END

Deficiency Appropriation Bill Passed by Congress—Speaker Clark Rules Himself Out of $7,000 Automobile.

Washington, Oct. 11.—The United States Commerce Court created in 1910 to have exclusive jurisdiction over appeals from decisions of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, will go out of existence December 31st if President Wilson signs the Deficiency Appropriation bill as it re-passed the House today.

The position of the judges, however, were finally saved when the House accepted the Senate's amendment continuing the present judges as additional Circuit judges of the United States.

The fight against the Commerce Court, which has raged for two years, ended with the agreement of the House to continue the extra judges in office until they resign or retire. Previously the House had voted the judges out of office, as well as having abolished the court itself. The Senate's amendment was accepted today because of the belief that the Deficiency bill would indefinitely be held up if the House insisted on legislating the present Commerce Court judges out of office.

Speaker Clark, during debate, ruled himself out of a $7,000 automobile without a visible tremor. Republican Leader Mann proposed the automobile appropriation as an amendment to a similar provision the Senate had made for Vice President Marshall. The Speaker would not recognize the propriety of the amendment, however, and in the end Vice President Marshall lost his new machine also.

The House accepted some of the amendments of the Senate, but rejected many.

The House agreed to the proposed $400,000 appropriation, to be used as part payment for a $700,000 Red Cross building in Washington, to be known as a memorial to Northern and Southern women of the Civil War.

WILSON FARMERS HOT.

Voted Against Governor's Good Roads —Legislature Condemned.

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 11.—Wilson county farmers, gathered in a mass meeting this afternoon for another purpose, voted solidly against two days' work on the county roads in November and opposed the proclamation of Governor Craig.

Resolutions endorsing the proclamation were offered by Chairman Woodward, of the County Commissioners, and the resolutions were defeated almost by unanimous vote. What effect this will have on the effort to secure united action on the two good roads days is problematical. The action was unexpected and Chairman Woodward was much surprised. Many of the farmers also expressed themselves in strong language concerning the present Legislature and claim that the bill introduced by Representative Woodward, for the public service commission, should have been passed.

HUERTA CLASHES WITH CONGRESS

Three Deputies Most Active in Clash Report to Be Missing

SITUATION GROWS INTENSE

Washington Officials Are Very Doubtful as to Outcome—Battleships Sent to Relieve Those in Mexican Waters.

Mexico City, Oct. 11.—Provisional President Huerta's coup last night, whereby he rid himself of Congress and constituted himself dictator of Mexico, has left the capital in a state of tense expectancy.

It was rumored that three Deputies who were most active in precipitating the clash, had disappeared.

Senator Dominguez, whose attack on the Provisional President in the Senate started the row, has not come to light. Having determined upon his conduct he made his will and bade his family good-bye, declaring that he expected to pay for his effort with his life.

Washington Doubtful.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Although latest advices to the State Department tonight declared the Deputies arrested by order of Provisional President Huerta had been released from prison, the dissolution of the Mexican Congress and the invasion of the legislative halls by armed troops, caused the Washington government possibly to lose all hope of seeing a constitutional election held on October 26th or the pacification of the country brought about through the authorities in power at present in Mexico City. A crisis is expected in the Mexican capital. Evidence that the Federal troops are disgruntled and on the verge of mutiny because they have not been paid and the comparatively easy successes of the constitutionalists in North Central Mexico, were significantly referred to by Washington officials.

The establishment of a virtual dictatorship by Huerta through the use of military force is interpreted as likely to have the most far-reaching consequences. It also was held as a vindication of the attitude of the Washington administration that military assumption of power should not be recognized and there is hope now among high officials that foreign governments which hitherto had recognized the Huerta regime would withdraw their support. There was no official pronouncement of policy today, but the American government is quietly preparing for any emergencies that may arise. Its advices show the improbability of an election on October 26th, not only because of the successes of the constitutionalists, but numerous illegalities in connection with the preliminary arrangements of an election. The dissolution of Congress for force is plainly looked upon here as an unconstitutional act.

At the cabinet meeting next Tuesday a full discussion of the situation is expected.

Change May be Made.

There is a possibility that developments in Mexico may bring about some change in the detail of American battleships in Mexican waters. Senor Huerta's declaration recently in his message to Congress that the six months period allowed foreign war vessels in Mexican waters would expire on October 26th, and would not be renewed, caused the Navy Department at that time to order the Rhode Island, Nebraska, New Jersey and Virginia to go to Vera Cruz to relieve the Louisiana, South Carolina, New Hampshire and Michigan.

Today it was stated at the Navy Department that the four ships would sail from Hampton Roads on October 27th for Vera Cruz.

The American government probably will follow the letter of Huerta's declaration changing the vessels every 30 days as provided by international law.

CLAYTON RESIGNS.

Will Not Enter Senate But Stays in the House.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Representative Henry D. Clayton, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, today sent to President Wilson a letter expressing his willingness to withdraw from the Alabama Senatorial fight and remain in the House to help carry through the administration's anti-trust programme.

Coincident with the publication of this letter Mr. Clayton gave out his resignation as the Senatorial appointee for the unexpired term of the late Senator Johnston.

STATE LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS MONDAY

Senators and Representatives Pledge Themselves to Stay to Finish

INTRA-STATE BILL RE-PASSED

Went to Conference Committee—Usual Gifts to Officials—Extra Help Voted Corporation Commission—The End.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 11.—The Senate and House have their work lined up tonight ready for final adjournment of the extraordinary session Monday. Ninety-two members of the House, in a roll call this afternoon, pledged themselves to be here Monday to assure a quorum to finish ratification of bills and round up the work of the session.

The Senators are also pledged to be here Monday for a quorum. In fact, the pay for the session covers Monday under the constitutional limitation and this gives additional assurance of good attendance for the closing ceremonies which at the regular sessions are always held several days after the pay stops.

Senate—Morning Session.

Senator Jones introduced a joint resolution urging that President Wilson appoint Senator Studdert, of Washington, consul to either Dublin or Belfast, Ireland, and the resolution was put through immediate passage.

On motion of Senator Ward the vote by which the intra-State freight rate bill passed the Senate last night was reconsidered in order that Senator Ward might have opportunity to withdraw his amendment put through exempting the operation of the act railroads to be constructed as much as [illegible] of road within a year, this having been admittedly for the benefit of the Raleigh-Charlotte division of the Norfolk Southern. This amendment was withdrawn and the bill re-passed.

Later in the day report came from the House that that body had refused to concur in the amendments to the bill. Senator Hobgood explained that the reason for this was that when the bill came over from the House it did not contain the table of rates and the House had declined to concur in order to get the matter in conference. The chair named as conferees Senators Ward, Nimocks and Hobgood.

Senator Weaver presented the report of the Senate Committee of the whole on the constitutional amendments bill. The Senate bill was on motion of Senator Ivie placed before the Senate as a substitute for the bill that came from the House with the House amendments. Senator Peebles offered an amendment adding a number of local matters to be covered by general laws and settled at home. The bond issue paragraph of Senator Phillips' amendments was voted down; recorder's court paragraph was adopted; the stock law paragraph was lost; that as to dog tax was adopted; that on justices of the peace was adopted; that on game laws withdrawn, and that on salaries of county officers adopted.

Senator Ivie offered an amendment to substitute five cents per mile for ten cents in mileage allowed members of the General Assembly. This was adopted.

Senator Ivie offered another amendment substituting "may" instead of "shall" as to the State poll tax of $2. This was adopted. Also an amendment by Senator Ivie striking out the municipal poll tax provision and applying the State poll tax to the poor and the schools as the Legislature may direct was adopted.

Senator Wakefield offered an amendment to strike from the preamble to the constitution the clause expressing thanks for preservation of the Union. This was lost and the bill passed final reading.

Senator Hobgood presented resolutions on the death of Reading Clerk R. M. Phillips. It was adopted and ordered spread on the Journal and a copy sent to the family.

Bills passed final reading were: Repeal the act of special session to remove Washington from the first to the second judicial district; amend the charter of Bakersville.

The Senate took a recess to 3:30 o'clock.

The Senate this afternoon voted down the House bill for all sales of mortgaged property to be open for higher bids for ten days after the sale.

The Rate Bill.

The Senate adopted the conference report as to the Justice intra-State freight rate bill and incorporating the schedule of rates omitted when the bill passed last night. The bill came from the House duly supplied with the missing schedule of rates. Senator Gilliam felicited the Senators on having passed a bill last night reconstructing the whole intra-State rate scheme of the State without a single rate being really in the bill. It bore out his contention on the floor last night, he said, that Senators, he and the rest, were passing something that they knew nothing whatever about. The Senate put the corrected bill through its readings and ordered it enrolled for ratification.

The Senate passed the House bill to provide the Corporation Commission with a rate expert and additional clerical help to cost not more than $6,000.

Other bills passed the Senate were: Increase pensions of fourth class pensioners from $30 to $32 per year, this being done without additional appropriation; authorize the Historical Commission to secure designs and procure estimates for a suitable monument for North Carolina troops in the Gettysburg battlefield; amend the law as to building and loan association probates.

The Senate took a recess to 8 o'clock.

Speaker Walter Murphy was today presented with a handsome silver

MIGHTY ATLANTIC ONCE MORE TAKES HEAVY TOLL

One Hundred and Thirty-Five Persons Find Watery Graves Beneath Her Swelling Seas, When the Volturno, With Six Hundred and Fifty-Seven Aboard is Burned.

London, Oct. 11.—Not since the Titanic sank has Europe been so thrilled as by a wireless message today telling of the burning of the steamship Volturno in mid-Atlantic with a loss so far as is at present known of 135 lives and the rescue of 521. The survivors are now aboard a fleet of steamers summoned by the Volturno's call for help, some of which are bound eastward and others westward.

The Volturno sailed from Rotterdam on October 2nd for New York. According to the official statement she carried twenty-two first-cabin passengers, 538 steerage and a crew numbering 96.

The rescue ships reached the scene of the disaster in plenty of time to save all, but for hours stood by the blazing vessel, impotent because of the storm, to reach the agonized men, women and children crowding the after part of the ship, a stone's throw away.

All night Thursday the life boats made desperate efforts to get alongside the Volturno but the waves beat them back again and again and not until the storm abated at daylight Friday did the rescuers succeed in removing the survivors from the doomed ship. Even now only the fringe of one of the most thrilling tales of the sea is available. Exactly how the rescue was effected is not known here.

The Volturno was well equipped with boats, sufficient, the agents say, for a thousand people, but the boisterous sea or lack of boat drill, or panic among the passengers prevented the successful employment of them.

The rescue ships were able to lower life boats, but apparently most of the boats launched from the Volturno were smashed or upset, and the occupants drowned. Two of the boats, crowded with passengers are reported to have gotten away but a search for them has proved fruitless and they have practically been given up as lost.

The steamer Carmania, bound from New York for Liverpool, was 78 miles away when the call for help was sounded. Captain Barr, ordered full steam, and drove through the seas at 20 knots an hour. The Carmania was first of the fleet to reach the burning vessel. She was followed by LaTouraine, Minneapolis, Rappahannock, Czar, Narragansett, Devonian, Kroonland, Grosser Kurfuerst and Zydlitz at various hours through the day. But the rescuing vessels could get neither line nor life boat to the Volturno, the forward part of which was almost hidden by a dense cloud of smoke when the Carmania arrived.

The burning steamer lay in the trough of the sea, pounding helplessly with her propellers fouled by the boat's tackle. The terrified passengers were huddled together as far as it was possible to get from the flames while throughout the day the officers and crew fought desperately with whatever appliances were at hand to hold the fire in check. Night came on and the seas abated only slightly.

The hopelessness of the situation was manifested at 9 o'clock in the evening when a great explosion tore away the upper works and flames burst from the engine room. It then became a matter of how long the Volturno would stay above water.

Meanwhile several of the terrified passengers, wrapped in life buoys dropped into the sea. One of them was taken aboard the Carmania. It may be that others found a haven with other vessels of the fleet but some undoubtedly were swept away.

When day broke the Volturno was still afloat. The gale had moderated and the seas had calmed down. From the encircling steamers lifeboats were sent out and into these the women and children were lowered first. Several trips were necessary before the survivors were removed.

TAR HEELS IN NEW YORK.

University Day Celebrated—Personal and Other Items of Interest.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Oct. 11.—The New York Alumni of the University of North Carolina met in their annual celebration Saturday night, October 11th, in honor of University Day. The dinner was not a fashionable affair, but an informal dining of friends. The occasion was merry and altogether delightful. There has never been a more successful banquet given in the history of the association of alumni in New York than this. Mr. A. Marvin Carr, of the class of 1902, was chairman of the committee on arrangements, and so well did he perform his duties that he was elected to continue in that capacity without a dissenting vote.

Judge Augustus Van Wyck, president of the New York Association, presided. By way of entertainment he regaled the crowd with a number of good anecdotes. Others present were Dr. Charles Baskerville, George Gordon Battle, Holland Thompson, Dr. Henry C. Cowles, Jr., Francis Gudger, James A. Gwyn, T. Holt Haywood, A. W. Haywood, Jr., Louis Graves, Dr. George H. Mallett, W. D. Price, Logan D. Howell, A. Marvin Carr, George B. Wills, Bynum Glenn, Louis G. Rountree, Z. V. Judd and others.

The affair was a beefsteak dinner, a dinner in which white shirt fronts is not the chief feature. The alumni sat on stools in a circle and each ate from the bottom of a bisected barrel. White aprons and peaked caps were provided by Mr. Healy, the restaurateur, for the guests. These added to the merriment of the occasion.

A letter from President E. K. Graham, conveying a message of good will from the Alma Mater, was read by Judge Van Wyck. Another message from Chapel Hill came in the form of a letter from T. G. Trenchard, the football coach of the University, who wrote of the football progress made during the present year.

Columbia University opened this year with a number of Tar Heels in residence. The registration books have not yet been classified and the exact number present cannot be stated, but it will probably run around a score. Prof. E. C. Brooks, of Trinity, is here on a year's leave of absence engaged in research work. Prof. Z. V. Judd, superintendent of schools of Wake county, and elected to the professorship of Rural Education at the State University to begin the following year, is here for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The New York hotels are crowded this week with fans present to attend the world's series baseball games between the Giants and Athletics. Several North Carolinians arriving recently have found it difficult to obtain rooms at the hotels usually patronized by Southerners. An investigation might prove also that some of the Tar Heels in the city are here to see the games.

Prof. J. Lewis, of Raleigh, has been staying in the Hotel St. Denis.

Dr. C. B. Ging, president of Elizabeth College, of Charlotte, is registered in the Martinique.

Mr. S. Bear, Jr., and Mrs. W. G. Whitehead, of Wilmington, have been at the Hotel Imperial.

Mr. H. L. Pope, of Lumberton, Mrs. Kathleen J. Neal, of Charlotte, and Mr. L. J. Hannah, of Wilmington, were recently in the Imperial.

Mr. Frank E. Johnson, of Asheville, was registered at the Hocman House.

Mr. B. Cameron, J. M. Stancill and R. H. Freeman, all of Raleigh, passed a short time at the Imperial. Mrs. Geo. C. Tudor, of Winston-Salem was also at this hotel.

Rev. W. B. Allen, of Waynesville, Mr. W. O. Jones and wife, of Raleigh, were here the past week in the Grand.

In the Park Avenue Hotel were registered recently Mrs. T. B. Farrell, of Wilmington, and Miss Mary W. Hughes, of Newbern.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Morton, Julian W. Morton and Miss Blanche Morton, of Wilmington, were present last week in the Marlborough. Mr. Thos. G. Griffith, of Charlotte, and D. O. Simmons, of Washington, were in this hotel also.

Others registered at the Imperial recently were B. L. Umberger and A. Campbell Cline, of Concord; Mrs. Jno. G. Blount, Mrs. Kate L. Blount, Mrs. H. Laughinghouse and Miss Laughinghouse, of Washington; G. S. Bradshaw of Greensboro, and Miss Mary Bradshaw, of Greensboro.

NEW LAND DISCOVERED.

As Large As Greenland In Arctic Region.

St. Michael, Alaska, Oct. 11.—The Russian steamers Taimyr and Waygatch, under Commander Wilitsky, who have been engaged in Arctic exploration north of Siberia for three years, arrived here today for coal.

Captain Wilitsky reports the discovery of a body of land as large as Greenland, extending beyond latitude 81 north, and longtitude 102 east.

Admiral Peary and other Arctic explorers have believed that a large body of land, almost a continent, existed in the Polar regions. The Canadian government had so much faith in the theories of Peary, Stefannsen and other explorers that last Summer it sent out Vilgarmur Stefannsen with the best equipped Polar expedition that ever embarked for the North.

Thee of Stefannsen's boats are frozen in the ice pack near Point Barrow, Alaska. Stefannsen himself with the whaler Karluk got away safely from Point Barrow and steered for the North seeking the unknown continent which the Russian expedition which arrived at St. Michael reported having discovered.

Havre, France, Oct. 11.—Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, militant suffrage leader, sailed today for New York.

PUBLIC "PAP" MEASURE.

Spoils Bill Passes Congress As Retaliatory Measure—Carolinians.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—Representative Pou, of the Fourth Congressional district, flayed the standpat Republicans unmercifully early this morning while the Overman resolution taking deputy marshals and collectors out of the civil service was under consideration. Owing to the absence of so many members, the bill finally passed by a close margin, the vote being 110 to 106, Representatives Doughton and Gudger being the only North Carolina members not voting on the measure. Representatives Small, Godwin, Faison, Kitchin, Page, Webb, Pou and Stedman voted for the bill.

The resolution allowing field agents, inspectors and deputies under the income tax law to be appointed and the one taking deputy marshals and collectors out of the civil service were both fathered by North Carolinians. Senator Simmons was responsible for the former and Senator Overman the latter.

Representative Pou said tonight that he had not the slightest doubt that Representative Claud Kitchin would succeed Floor Leader Underwood as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. He declared that Kitchin was the best fitted man on the committee to take the place of the great leader and that he would fall heir to the chairmanship without any serious opposition. It is known that nearly every member of the Ways and Means Committee now favors Kitchin's election over any other man.

THE GRIDIRON BATTLES

Princeton Defeated Bucknell 28 to 6. Army Trounced Rutgers 29 to 0. Army Downs Georgetown. Other Games.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 11.—Using a maze of forward passes, usually unsuccessful, but in one instance good for 40 yards, and a touchdown, Bucknell crossed the Princeton goal line this afternoon for the first time this season. Topham failed to kick goal. The finals: Princeton 28; Bucknell 6.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The Army defeated Rutgers easily today 29 to 0. The visitors never got inside the Army's 25-yard line.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The University of Pennsylvania today trounced Swarthmore 20 to 0. Two touchdowns, a goal from the field and one placement made the scores.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 11.—The University of Wisconsin football team, champions of the West, today met a tartar in Marquette emerging with a 13 to 0 victory. From the start the Marquette players put the Cardinals in more than one tight place by excellent playing.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 11.—In a game marked by rough playing for which three men were banished and many penalties imposed, Navy defeated Georgetown University here today 23 to 0. The Georgetown forwards were outclassed.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 11.—Showing only flashes of predicted form, Michigan was held to a 14 to 0 score by the light team from Mount Union eleven today.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 11.—Speedy and sweeping end runs by Von Kolnitz and Heyward won today's game for the University of South Carolina over Wake Forest College by a score of 27 to 10.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 11.—Harvard's football team was played to a standstill for three periods today by an eleven from Williams, but in the closing moments of the play the Crimson scoring machine got into action and made three touchdowns. The final score was Harvard 23; Williams 3.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 11.—The Yale eleven struck what the coaches call its real gait this afternoon and defeated LaFayette 27 to 0 in a drizzling rain. A fumble aid a penalty, each time when the ball was on the visitors' one-yard line, prevented Yale from making two more touchdowns.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Carlisle barely won from Cornell today by a score of 7 to 0. Three times Cornell had the ball on the Indians' five yard line, but lacked the necessary punch to carry it over. The Red and White outplayed the red skins continuously except in the first period when the visitors made their only score.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 11.—Relying on straight football, Vanderbilt easily defeated the Central of Kentucky team this afternoon by a score of 48 to 0. Seven touchdowns and three goals from placement and one field goal accounted for the scores.

ST. LOUIS SERIES.

Cards Won First Game and Tied the Second.

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—The Nationals today lost the first game in the double header with the Americans in the series to decide the city championship and tied the second, called at the end of the sixth inning because of darkness. The scores were 8 to 5 and 2 to 2. The series now stands two victories for each team.

THE BATTING AVERAGES

Unofficial Averages to Close of American and National Leagues—The Leading Twirlers' Records.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Unofficial batting averages, revised to include final games in both leagues give Ty Cobb with an average of .391 first place in the American, and Yingling, with .400 first place in the National, while McDonald, of Boston, nosed out Daubert with .362 to the Brooklyn man's .360.

The Nationals' other .300 hitters are:

Hyatt, Pittsburg, .356; R. Miller, Philadelphia .345; Crandall, New York .341; Cravath, Philadelphia .331; Erwin, Brooklyn .323; Becker, Philadelphia .321; Schmidt, Boston .320; Walsh, Philadelphia .320; Hess, Boston .317; Zimmerman, Chicago .313; Magee, Philadelphia .312; Wheat, Brooklyn .309; Viox, Pittsburg .309; Meyers, New York .306; Wagner, Pittsburg .306; Titcs, Boston, .306; Tinker, Cincinnati .304; Houser, St. Louis .304; Zinn, Boston .302; Lobert, Philadelphia .301; Marsans, Cincinnati .300; Smith, Brooklyn .300.

Next to Cobb the American Leaggers rank: Henricksen, Boston .385; Jackson, Cleveland .372; Speaker, Boston .364; Collins, Philadelphia .340; Baker, Philadelphia .338; Gilhooley, New York, .337; Lajoie, Cleveland .332; McInnis, Philadelphia .322; D. Murphy, Philadelphia .322; Gandil, Washington .321; Crawford, Detroit .317; Lelivelt, Cleveland .314; Strunk, Philadelphia .307; Bauman, Detroit .307; O'Neill, Cleveland .303; Stovall, St. Louis .303; Walker, St. Louis .302.

Philadelphia leads in the American League with a team batting average of .277 and a team fielding average of .964. Brooklyn led the National in batting with .270 and fielding honors went to Pittsburg with .965.

Milan leads the base stealers with .71. In the National Carey of Pittsburg, stole 56.

ATHLETICS THIRD TIME

losing the second of the series to Mathewson by a 3 to 0 score.

When the two veteran twirlers faced each other for the second time today, the pitching stood: Plank 7 hits and 3 runs; Mathewson 8 hits and no runs. Tonight the figures read: Plank 9 hits and 4 runs; Mathewson 14 hits and 3 runs.

Matty and Plank.

It is a peculiar coincidence that when this pair of twirlers were just slipping past the salad days of their big league career, they were called upon to face each other in just such a series of games and the result was just as close. When the Athletics and Giants faced each other in the initial game of the world's championship battle in 1905, Mathewson allowed four hits and no runs, while Plank gave ten hits and three runs.

Matty's Merit.

The real merit of their box work in the closing game of the series today is shown by the fact that the Giants got but two hits off Plank while the Athletics collected six from Mathewson, five of which came in the first three innings. In only two innings did the Giants perch safely on Plank and even the rank and file of the champions of all champions had difficulty in hitting Mathewson with any consistency. Aside from Schang, three of the four men in the upper section of the Athletics' batting order were the only ones successful in solving the delivery of "Big Six." Eddie Murphy made two hits, Collins one and Baker two.

Both veterans were steady, having both control and speed, and but one batter from each team received a pass to first at their expense.

The play was confined chiefly to the infield, each first baseman getting 14 put outs. The Athletic outfielders made eight put outs and the Giants six.

It was also a day of triumph for Manager Connie Mack and the American League. The Athletics' victory over the Giants in the 1913 world's series marked Mack's third elevation to the title of manager of a universal championship team and the fourth consecutive victory of an American League team.

The Athletics' victory was also pleasing to Connie Mack and his players since it gave them the rubber win over McGraw and the Giants in the third meeting of the two teams. In 1905 the Giants won four games to one. In 1911 the Athletics took four out of six.

This series may mark the passing of Plank, for he has desired to drop out of the game for several years and has only continued at the personal solicitation of Manager Mack.

Plank has never shown any desire to wander "far from his own fireside" and today owns two large farms near Gettysburg, Pa., his birth place, and spends all his spare time there.

Forty-nine players who participated in the series this week will divide $155,163.89 between them on the basis of 60 per cent. to the winners and forty per cent. to the losers. The stockholders of each of the two clubs will have $79,109.50 to divide. The National Commission received $32,598 for overseeing the five-game contest, the entire gate receipts amounting to $325,980 coming from the pockets of 151,000 fans who paid to witness the play.

Today's attendance totaled 36,682 with receipts of $75,676.50.

The Details.

Eddie Murphy connected with the first ball pitched by Mathewson and drove it past Fletcher for a single. Oldring attempted to sacrifice laying a bunt down in front of Mathewson who threw Murphy out at second. The second pitch Mathewson offered Collins was driven to right field for a single, Oldring going to third. Things looked bad when "Home Run" Baker came up. There was a resounding crack of the bat and the hearts of the Giant rooters stopped for an instant. The ball shot into left field for a long sacrifice y to Burns, Oldring scoring. Burns in trying to catch Oldring threw the ball over McLean's head. Collins went to second on the error. The inning ended when McInnis sent a grounder to Herzog who blocked Collins and threw to Doyle who touched out the Athletics' second baseman between second and third.

Herzog, the first New Yorker up, went out on a long uy to Murphy. Doyle was an easy out, Barry to McInnis. Fletcher belted the ball for what looked like extra bases, but it fell into the hands of Oldring.

Schang on First.

Strunk opened the Athletics' second with a drive at Doyle and was thrown out. Barry sent a high fly to Murray. Schang shot a single at Mathewson so hot that the pitcher could not field it and Schang reached first safely. Plank flied out to Herzog.

As the Giants came to bat Manager McGraw called Umpire Klem's attention to the way Plank lifted his foot in pitching, but the arbiter did not allow the protest. Burns grounded to Baker and was out at first. Shafer raised a high foul to McInnis, who made a great catch. Murray hit a slow grounder to Plank and was out.

Mackmen Win.

The Athletics made the runs that gave them the world's championship in the third. Murphy opened by slamming the ball to left field for his second single. Oldring hit a fast grounder at Doyle, who fumbled the ball and both runners were safe. Murphy and Oldring moved along on Collins' sacrifice, Merkle fielding the ball and touching him out on the line. Baker smashed the ball down the right field line to Merkle. The latter feinted to throw to the plate to catch Murphy, then made a tardy effort to get back to first. Murphy legged for the plate and slid into the home base under Merkle's throw to McLean. Oldring moved to third on the play and scored on a long sacrifice fly by McInnins to Burns. Strunk grounded out Doyle to Merkle.

One, Two, Three.

McLean, opening New York's third, walloped a long fly to Oldring. Merkle shot a liner directly into Collins' hands and Mathewson grounded out, Barry to McInnis.

Matty Tightened.

The Athletics' scoring machine stopped running with the beginning

BURNS AND MERKLE BLAMED FOR GIANT'S DOWNFALL

Burns Threw Wild in First—Merkle Failed to Hit in Seventh

"MATTY IS BEST OF ALL"

Hands It to the Athletics—"Make More Double Plays Than Any Team on Earth—They Got The Breaks.

BY "RUBE" MARQUARD
Star Southpaw of the Giants.

It broke our hearts, that's all; it just broke the hearts of the Giants, every man on the club, to lose with Matty pitching the ball he did. Mathewson is the greatest pitcher this country ever produced, not barring Walter Johnson or this Eddie Plank.

Burns Did It.

Burns probably lost that last game for us because he thought too much of his arm. All season McGraw told this kid not to play the circus stuff. Today that is what Burns pulled off. He wanted to show the strength of his arm before 40,000 people and banged the ball over Larry McLean's head when he could have got Oldring at the plate if he had made a bounce throw.

"That was a bad thing for you, Burns," said McGraw, when Burns came back to the bench, "but you are going to be a great fielder next year."

This is why McGraw is a greater manager than Connie Mack.

"Mack Foxy."

McGraw had one of the weakest hitting clubs that ever won a National League pennant while Connie Mack had a heavy hitting club, and I will say that they outbrained us. We were told that the Athletics had no pitchers. Well, Mack had those men under cover. He is a foxy manager but he hasn't any more brains than McGraw and the National League winner next year will beat out the American League winners.

Chance in Seventh.

We could have won the game in the seventh with two men on and one out. The Athletics were about to blow at that time and this was demonstrated by the whole infield coming in and losing an infield pop. But Merkle could not come through with a hit in the pinch and that was what lost us the series. We hit fairly well, but we could not hit when a good pitcher was in there and needed a jolt. When I say a good pitcher I mean Mathewson, because he was the only good pitcher in the series, and, honestly, it was something terrible to see him beaten in this game. Mathewson had this series so much at heart that he was staggering when the game finished. I saw them carrying Eddie Plank off on their shoulders and the only thing you can say is that these Athletics are a better and stronger crowd of ball players than they were in 1911.

"Fastest Ever."

I do not believe that there was ever a club that could make double plays like these fellows, they were simply wonderful every time there was a chance for a double play, they seemed to be absolutely positive that they would make it. Only a ball player can appreciate what this means to a pitcher. The Giants fell down on their infield work and the Athletics really showed us up. As a matter of fact, our pitchers could not hold up these heavy hitters and if the Giants are going to win another pennant, they will have to get in a couple of clean-up hitters.

Athletics Got Breaks.

I won't say that the American League is faster than the National League but during this series they have handicapped us considerably by getting the breaks when they were necessary. We have had our own breaks of luck that is true, but every time the Athletics got it, it has proven costly to us.

I would not detract one iota from the Athletics' victory, but we believed that we could beat them. Now everybody knows we could not.

A. & M. FROM VIRGINIA MEDS.

Won Gridiron Contest Yesterday 13 to 7 at Raleigh.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 11.—The Medical College of Virginia put up a strong defense and held A. & M. to a score of 13 to 7 this afternoon. The game was played on a water-soaked field and both sides were handicapped.

Neither side was able to score in the first half, the period ending with the Techs in possession of the ball on the Virginians' two-yard line. The second half started with the Meds kicking off, VanBroklin returning ten yards, and on the next play Futrell for the visitors intercepted an attempted forward pass by the Red and White, making a beautiful 50-yard run for a touchdown, Schenck kicking the goal. A. & M. made both of its touchdowns in the same quarter, one on a line plunge by Tenney and the other by a 30-yard run around left end by Riddick. The game ended with A. & M. in possession of the ball one foot from the visitors' goal. The Medical College showed a strong defense, but were unable to do anything through the Red and White line. The features of the game were the playing of Futrell, Schenck and Walker, for the visitors, and Sullivan, Riddick, Tenney, Osborne and VanBroklen, for the Techs. Officials: Referee, Broughton, of Wake Forest; umpire, Roods, of Oklahoma; head linesman, McNutt, of Ohio State; time of quarters, 10 and 12 minutes. Attendance, 500.

EDDIE CICOTTE.

ATHLETICS THIRD TIME

of the fourth inning. Barry was quickly out Fletcher to Merkle. Schang lifted a fly to Murray. Fletcher took care of Plank's fly.

For New York in the fourth Herzog was out on three strikes in a row. Doyle sent a bounder to McInnis, who retired the runner unassisted. Fletcher flied to Strunk.

In the fifth Murphy went out, Doyle to Merkle, and Oldring grounded out the same way. Collins lifted a fly to Shafer.

Giants' Lone Tally.

The Giants' only activity in the game was in the fifth when they got their first and only run through an excusable error by Plank. Burns sent a hot liner into the hands of McInnis which he held. Shafer walked. Murray lifted a high fly to the infield. Baker ran in to get it. Plank moved from the box and was set for the catch as Baker dashed into him. As a result of the mix-up Plank dropped the ball and Murray was safe on first and Shafer on second. McLean then threw the crowd into a frenzy by lashing a screeching single to left field, scoring Shafer. Murray went to second. Merkle hit into a double play forcing McLean at second, Collins to Barry, and being thrown out at first by the Philadelphia shortstop.

Baker Starts.

Baker opened the Athletics' fifth with a smoking single to right field. He moved to second on McInnis sacrifice, McLean to Doyle. Baker went to third on Strunk's out, Doyle to Merkle and Barry ended the inning by sending a grounder down to Fletcher, who had to make a long throw to first.

Matty's Hit.

Mathewson in the sixth singled to right and the rooters looked for a batting rally. Plank changed his style of delivering the ball and took his time in shooting it up. Herzog smashed a grounder at Barry who threw to Collins, forcing Mathewson, and Herzog was doubled at first. It was a fast double play. Doyle flied out to Murphy.

Schang struck out in the Athletics' seventh. Plank sent a grounder to Doyle, and as the latter fielded the ball cleanly did not run to first. Murphy drew a base on balls, the only pass that Mathewson gave. Oldring sent up a high foul that McLean gathered in.

Quick work was made of the Giants when they came up. Fletcher drove a fly out to Strunk. Burns went out Barry to McInnis aid Shafer did the same thing.

Ii the eighth Collins was an easy victim, Doyle to Merkle. Baker chopped a grounder at Mathewson, who threw him out. McInnis drove a grounder at Fletcher and went out at first.

Plank continued to pitch uibeatable ball. Murray went out on a grounder, Baker to McInnis. McLean raised a fly to Oldring and Merkle was thrown out by Barry.

In the ninth Strunk drove a high fly to Shafer. Barry hit a grounder at Herzog and was thrown out. Schang struck out.

Manager McGraw sent in Crandall to bat for Mathewson in the Giants' half. The crowd thought it of no use and the vast throng began to move out of the grounds. Crandall went out Collins to McInnis. Herzog flied to Barry. Doyle lifted a fly to Murphy and with the out another world's championship went to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Demonstrative Enthusiasm.

New York, Oct. 11.—Connie Mack's Athletics were a happy lot of ball players as they left for Philadelphia after having been given a demonstrative send-off by a big crowd of enthusiasts at the station. Many of the team members were hoisted to the shoulders of admirers and noisily escorted to the gate leading to their train.

This celebration followed another almost equally jubilant when the champions reached their hotel from the Polo Grounds. Several hundred joyous enthusiasts almost mobbed the players as they alighted from their automobiles.

All the Mackmen were generous in their praise of the Giants. Captain "Danny" Murphy voiced the general sentiment.

"The Gaints played clean ball and were the best of opponents," he said.

WEEKLY DRY GOODS REPORT.

Different Things Produce Dullness in Buying.

New York, Oct. 11.—The easing in the raw cotton markets, combined with other factors of lesser importance caused hesitation in the buying of goods at the high prices durilg the week, particularly the drills, sheetings, wide print cloths and other fabrics that have been active for some weeks.

There was, however, no marked recession in prices. In other lines where advances commensurate with the cotton rise of the last couple of months were delayed, new prices were named.

Napped fabrics in 36-inch widths for the cutting trades were priced this week on bases from 10 to 12 1-2 per cent higher than a year ago. Staple draperies were advanced 1-4 and 1-2c a yard. The scarcity in goods for quick delivery was not overcome and traders were generally of the opinion that a decided recession in cotton must come before prices will be generally unsettled.

The needs for goods in many quarters for the next three months was well defined and deliveries from mills were so slow that no stocks accumulated. The mills were well conditioned with orders for the coming few months and were being operated as fully as a restricted labor supply would permit.

Export trade was quiet. Hosiery and underwear were in active demand Yarns were steady, but quiet during the past few days.

Cloth prices were as follows: Print cloths, 28 inch 64x64s four cents; 64x 60s 3 3-4; 38 1-2 inch 64x64s 5 3-4; brown sheetings, Southern standards 8 1-3; denims 9 ounce 14 1-2; tickings 8 ounce 14; standard staple prints 5 1-4; standard staple ginghams 6 1-2. standard dress ginghams 9 3-4c.

PLUMBERS NOT IMPLICATED.

Had Nothing to Do With Renting of Hall for Sparring Match.

The plumbers of Local Union No. 261 want it distinctly understood that they did not have any part in renting the Junior Order Hall Friday night for a sparring match under the preing of the plumbers. Members of the union stated last night that they have a hall—Bonitz Hall—in which they hold their meetings and for which they pay rent and that this hall answers their every purpose, therefore they would not likely be paying out money for a temporary meeting place. They had nothing but words of condemnation for the person or persons who rented the Junior Hall for the boxing match on the representation that it was to be used for a meeting of the plumbers.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., under Act of Congress, March 2nd, 1874.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily except Monday, at $6 per year, $3 for six months; $1.50 for three months; 50 cents for one month, served by carriers in the city, or by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application, and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate and like matter will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, to persons carrying a regular account, or, if paid cash in advance, a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, excursions, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under the same conditions, except so much thereof as may be of news value to readers of the paper, in the discretion of the editors.

TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 51; Editorial and Local rooms, No. 61. Call either, if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interest, are not wanted; and, if acceptable in every other way, they will invariably be rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

ALL DRAFTS, checks, express money orders, and postal money orders, for the paper should be made payable, and all communications should be addressed to, THE WILMINGTON STAR CO.

Oh, you bonehead! How much money did you lose on the games?

Anyhow, Matty couldn't be expected to do all the playing by himself. But, Oh, you "old man" Plank!

Being "the same old Bill" in doing the right is different from being "the same old Bill" to the same old crowd.

The man who permits himself to be driven to drink no doubt hates to jog along without a bit of it in his mouth.

The candidate who doesn't care how he spends his campaign fund needn't owe his grocer a cent at the close of the campaign.

William Barnes, Jr., may not be a liar but he may have differed with Col. Roosevelt about a plain matter of fact that the Colonel got tired disputing.

Don't ever promise anybody to be "the same old Bill," for a bill that circulates a long time may become so soiled it will get beyond redemption.

The man who does a great deal of talking does very little working unless he is trying to "work" the other fellow. It is curious how circumstances persist in altering cases.

If you make a politician the recipient of the campaign fund, he cares not who makes the contributions just so they are big enough to remind a candidate that he is expected to be the "same old Bill."

This old agitation anent the depletion of the farms will settle itself. The days are practically upon us when the countryman has about as many conveniences as the cityman and, as always, vastly more of the natural comforts. And these constitute in large measure the attractiveness that the city has held out to the boys from the farms.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Says the Jacksonville Times-Union: "Ignorance goes at it blindly and believes it is right." The worst thing about ignorance is that it is too blind to see the point and answers arguments with heated words without wisdom. "Who is this that uttereth words without wisdom?" It is the fellow who thinks he knows it all but doesn't know that what he doesn't know would fill a hundred foot shelf of all kinds of books.

Republican organs give vent to the squeal that "Wilson is both President and Congress." They can be excused oi the ground that they are not at all accustomed to seeing a people's President and a people's Congress so thoroughly agreed in the interest of the people that their singleness of purpose makes them look like one and the same. When the President and Congress are at loggerheads the people may know that something is wrong with either one or the other.

The difference between President Wilson and the bankers is that the President wants to establish a government protectorate over the country's financial system, while the bankers object to any plan that will remove the system a few degrees from bank control. Financial crashes every few years prove that the banks either can't or won't keep the financial system in hand, and if the present currency plan isn't better than the old one it certainly can't be any worse.

A New York man has sued for divorce, alleging, among other complaints, that his wife treated him with "intolerable severity." Probably he is one of those fractious, incorrigible male individuals who won't "give in", and as he has been married only eight months he hasn't even given himself time to get used to being managed by a woman. No doubt there are men in Virginia and South Carolina,hardened benedicts, who have "taken it easy" and lived to celebrate their silver wedding and get a whole lot of "valuable presents." The virtue which enables those Virginians and South Carolinians to do that is fortitude and it says about as well as jumping from the frying pan into the fire, like most forced couples do. A man, in order to be real happy, has to learn to "put up with a heap," as a thoroughly subdued South Carolinian would say.

THE PROPOSED STEAMSHIP LINE.

Right on the heels of the action of the Legislature in leaving Wilmington out to shift for itself in the matter of freight rate discrimination, The Star's announcement that the Morse steamship interests of New York contemplate the running of a line of steamers to this port is making the State sit up and take notice. Referring to what seems to be goor prospects for additional steamship service for the port, the Charlotte Observer remarks that from its knowledge of the spirit of Wilmington business men it feels sure that if the proposition of the New Yorker is based on business principles, giving Wilmington fair value for the money, it will be a bargain. The Observer is not posted on the terms, but it expresses the hope they are of the kind to enlist the full interest of the city.

The belief of that paper is and its argument has been, that the only thing needed for the development of the commerce at the port of Wilmington, is the inauguration of a line of steamers with that direct aim in view. The trade which Wilmington itself would be able to give such a line, The Observer says, would be soon augmented by freight traffic from the interior, and once Wilmington should get the business started it would be self-supporting.

We have no doubt The Observer takes both a kindly and keen interest in this new prospect for increasing the facilities for water transportation at Wilmington, and it is needless to say that as a commercial center this city appreciates what our valued contemporary has to say. We might say that the terms offered by the Morse interests are liberal enough and that Wilmington so considers it, judging from her subscription of $10,000 on a day's notice. Captain M. L. Gilbert, who represents the Morse interests, left Wilmington with a good impression of the prospects for his company here, especially for cargoes bound for this port. Of course, Wilmington also makes considerable shipments to New York, and doubtless the new company would get its share of business coming to or originating at Wilmington.

There's the rub, however, for with two steamship companies competing for the business and a third ready to come if the business will warrant it, the question is whether North Carolina products can be gotten to a North Carolina port at a rate that will enable it to compete with Norfolk. However, with the Legislature's entering into a rate compromise that has heretofore "bottled up" the port, as The Observer once contended, it is now left to the tender mercies of the railroads as to the future policy that they will pursue towards the port. They may see the opportunity to build up their business here, but North Carolina has lost hers to open her port for the carriage of the products of her cotton mills, tobacco factories, furniture factories, cottonseed oil mills and other products for export either coastwise or foreign.

The port of Wilmington cannot live off itself, and as the State through its Legislature has done its best to make it a mere local water point, we don't see how the esteemed Observer can hope for Wilmington's ocean trade to be "augmented by freight traffic from the interior." That traffic already goes to Norfolk and as the State has concluded a deal that ratifies that policy of the railroads, it is hardly possible that they will do for this port what North Carolina would not do herself.

We are not pessimistic, mind you, but we speak the truth when we say we profoundly regret that North Carolina has never appreciated her opportunity at her port. The port is now about to get the additional steamship service that would enable Charlotte and other commercial centers to utilize it to advantage, but with the port bottled up against Charlotte and the whole of North Carolina, by the consent of North Carolina, it takes an optimist to believe that Charlotte will ever import or export anything by way of any ocean gateway of the State—that is for a long time to come.

TRANSPORTATION INVESTIGATION.

George P. Boyle, Esq., of the legal staff of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, will come to eastern North Carolina during the latter part of November to investigate long-standing complaints about inadequate facilities, lack of dispatch, insufficiency of refrigeration and unsatisfactory service in the rail transportation of the berry, truck and fish products of this portion of North Carolina. Mr. Doyle's mission is to get at the facts and secure proofs first hand for the guidance of the Commission, which is expected to inquire into the situation and afford whatever relief lies in its power.

The Commission attorney will come to Wilmington first and give a hearing to the shippers of this section on the 24th and 25th of November. His dates at Mount Olive are November 26th and 27th and at Newbern on the 28th and 29th. He will give a week to the inquiry and its scope will include the shipment of all kinds of perishable products, notably the field products of all sections and the fish products of Wilmington, Newbern and all the coast shipping points.

This inquiry has been brought about through Dr. John M. Faison, Representative in Congress from the Third North Carolina district, although many complaints sent to him are from territory in three or four Congressional districts. Dr. Faison announces that he has arranged these hearings with a view to the greatest convenience to the growers, shippers and fishing interests within a radius of forty miles from either one of the places where complaints are to be heard and placed in the record. The hearing is theoutcome of complaints and allegations of severe losses and annoyance to shippers because of poor transportation service. Of course, the purpose is to get better schedules, ample and prompt car service, and sufficient refrigeration for shipments bound for the Northern markets. The berry, trucking and fishing industries in the territory amount to several million dollars a year, and it is alleged that the losses by reason of neglect of the carriers is so large as to threaten the industries concerned.

It is very important for both the shippers and the railroads that the service should be such that the industries may be promoted instead of hampered or destroyed, and it is especially important to all of eastern North Carolina in the matter of developing its resources. The whole case now depends upon the shippers, who are really the complainants, as Congressman Faison considerd that he has done his duty in getting a hearing for them at the hands of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

Dr. Faison has been persistent and determined in his efforts to remedy the conditions alleged, but the case will fall down unless the shippers come forward with concrete instances of shipments upon which they sustained unreasonable losses. We don't know the extent of the losses, but if there is a condition to be remedied and the evidence is not forthcoming to warrant the Commission in taking action, the shippers will fall down on Dr. Faison. It is a chance to put up or shut up.

It is to the interest of the carriers, however, to afford every possible facility they can to give a service that will enure to their own benefit as well as the producing sections concerned. The railroads probably will have a hearing also, but if Mr. Boyle is only to hear the shippers the carriers will have their inning when the Commission takes up the case itself. Evidently the final hearing must be heard in Wilmington as a matter of convenience to all the interests involved. Be that as it may, now is the opportunity of the shippers if they have any grievances to make and sustain by the facts.

GENERAL KINGMAN CHEERS THE PORT OF SAVANNAH.

The distinguished General Kingman, lately engineer in charge of government river and harbor works at Savannah, and recently made chief of the engineer corps, U. S. A., at Washington, leaves Savannah with cheering words for that port. Gen. Kingman succeeds Gen. W. H. Bixby, and he is now our chief as well as the head of all the waterways improvements of the United States. There is no more capable engineer in the country and we rejoice to see him at the head of the engineer corps, for he certainly appreciates the possibilities of our South Atlantic ports. In an editorial the Savannah News of Thursday says of his departure for his post at Washington:

"In leaving Savannah to assume the office of chief of the engineer corps of the army, Gen. Kingman advises her people to keep the channel of their harbor at least 30 feet deep and to insist upon fair treatment from their transportation companies. This is good advice. Savannah is by far the greatest South Atlantic port and she will have no difficulty in maintaining that position if she continues to have a channel to the sea deep enough to accommodate her commerce at the lowest freight rates and sees to it that her railroads give her a square deal.

"But the time may be close at hand when she will need more than 30 feet of water in her channel and require more liberal treatment from her transportation companies. Hence the importance of always being on the watch for signs of the need of a deeper channel and for discriminations against her by her transportation companies.

"As long as we have a growing commerce we shall have little if any difficulty in getting appropriations for deepening our channel. Congress is always disposed to lend a helping hand where help is deserved. There is growth in Savannah's commerce every year. It is going to show big growth this year. The transportation companies, however, are inclined to be selfish. Insofar as earnings are concerned, they look to the present rather than the future. That is largely because a traffic manager aims to make a record for himself. He wants to make a good showing for his department. The future of the company does not appeal to him so strongly as does his own future.

"A very slight discrimination against a port in rates tends to keep commerce away from it. Savannah's transportation companies make a big section of country tributary to her, but she will not be able to hold the trade of all of it and extend the territory unless rates are favorable to her. Hence the importance of keeping a close watch on rates. Even now we are having complaints of one of our transportation companies. It is complained that this company is discriminating in favor of a rival port and that one of Savannah's businesses is suffering in consequence. Our trades bodies couldn't be better engaged, so far as Savannah's interests are concerned, than in finding a way to remove the cause of the complaints."

The Star quotes the above from The News because it will be enlightening in North Carolina in the light of recent events. The News certainly said something when it remarked that the slightest discrimination against a port might mean its run. It is hardly possible that Georgia will be a party to even the slightest discrimination against Savannah.

EFFECTIVE HEALTH WORK.

Robeson county was the second county in the State to provide a physician to give all of his time to health work. In our Lumberton correspondence today something is told of what Dr. B. W. Page has accomplished in "cleaning up" the "biggest and best county in the State." Preventable diseases have been reduced about 60 per cent. from actual statistics and from our own correspondent's observation, he says he is convinced that real health work will certainly reduce the death rate. But the remarkable part of the whole matter is that Dr. Page has compiled statistics showing that this work has cost the average Robeson county citizen less than one cent per dozen for human lives. For efficiency and economy in the administration of health work, we take off our hats to the State of Robeson!

CURRENT COMMENT.

One of the prime needs in North Carolina is for freight rates that will enable the different portions of the State to do business with each other. This keeps the whole profit and benefit of the business at home. North Carolina has done more than its share in building up other States. It is time it was doing a few things for itself.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Public schools can never reach the summit of their achievement until they give the boys and girls some of the essential learning that they will require in the choice of life work. Giving direction to vocation at a formative period of youth is no more important than providing the boys and girls with the opportunities for learning the essentials of these pursuits.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The Seaboard Air Line is to put on a local passenger service between Wilmington and Hamlet on November 1, by which there will be a train out from Hamlet about 6 o'clock in the morning and a train out from Wilmington about that hour in the afternoon. This arrangement is a relief to the local travel, but Charlotte and Wilmington are left as far apart as ever. If the Seaboard is given time, however, it may yet open the gates at Hamlet, so as to give a clearer track between the two cities.—Charlotte Observer.

The railroad lobby is at work in Raleigh, and that it is doing effective work is to be seen in the slaughter of the measures which are being presented to secure justice to the people and relief from the outrages of freight rate discriminations which are at the vitals of the commercial and industrial life of the State. If there is a railroad in the State, which either by personal representatives, or telegrams, or letters, or "friends," is not using all its influence to do to death the intra-State freight rate bill and any measure to give to North Carolina the service of a real Public Service Commission that railroad should speak. Chief spokesmen for them can be seen about the Capitol, in the assembly halls, in the hotel lobbies. They are talking against the bills which will be of benefit to the people. Their presence here, and their activity emphasize that it is the old fight, the People vs. the Railroads.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Speaking of Tailored Suits for Long and Popular Wear,

When a woman wishes to express her own estimate of her value she instinctively turns to clothes. they may not be her only form of expression, but they are an uncommonly important one, and one which everybody can recognize at a glance and the better she understands the art of dress the more she appreciates the necessity of the plain Suits in her wardrobe and the more exacting she is likely to be as to its cut and detail work.

The collections of suits here between $14.98 and $27.50 in the Suit Department is one that the women who know dress can look over with satisfaction.

And apart from the standard black and navy—are the rich dark Cheviots, Poplins, Cords, two Tone fabrics and novelties. All in Fashion's best models.

CAROLINA BEATS DAVIDSON.

Score 7 to 0 in Favor of the University at Greensboro.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 11.—Carolina beat Davidson by a score of 7 to 0 in the first football game of the season here today. Carolina's score consisted of a touchdown and a field goal. Davidson's plucky fight and especially the line plunging of Walker, were features. There was a good attendance of supporters of the two institutions.

Germany is said to have an oversupply of foresters; so that well-educated men have hard work to secure even inferior positions.

ART AND INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT

Arrangements Being Perfected for Big Event to be Held in This City in November—Beginning of County Fair.

The New Hanover Art and Industrial Exhibit to be held November 11th, 12th and 13th under the auspices of Sorosis and in connection with the Corn Show is for the purpose of stimulating interest in the fine arts, to show that the study of home economics belongs in the realm of those liberal art subjects which are necessary to have knowledge of in order to obtain that true quality called culture.

A member of Sorosis says that it is "to also indicate the importance and variety of subjects grouped under the general title Home Economics; to demonstrate the need of adequate preparations for the responsibilities of the administration of the home, and to emphasize a truth to a criticising world that the woman's club movement is not blazing and beating a path that leads away from better knowledge and high ideals."

All Departments Represented.

The Household Economics Department offers prizes for expert cookery, darning, sewing for girls and to the boys for the best home-made fireless cooker, the direction for which are furnished, and the best article made that can be put to use in the home.

The Art Department will offer prizes for original sketches, drawings and water colors, embroidery and fancy work, the details of which will be advertised shortly, and will have on exhibition work of talented artists including portraits, paintings and decorative work of various kinds which has been done by persons living in this community.

The Civic Department will offer prizes for the best display of chrysanthemums grown upon the car line, and a similar prize for those grown off the car line, also for the finest exhibit of cut flowers grown in a home garden and to the florist who shows the most attractive collection of chrysanthemums grown by them.

One of the features of the exhibition will be an attractive country store in which will be a vast assortment of pure foods and toilet articles guaranteed under the pure food and rugs act, and this will doubtless prove a means of educating the public upon the brands of foods. A complete list of pure foods has been compiled by the Westfield, Mass., Board of Health, and only the manufacturers mentioned in that list will be represented. A number of articles and bottled goods made in Wilmington will be on display.

Step Toward County Fair.

While this exhibition is intended to be educative, and is really a step towards a county fair, and is not a money-making scheme, these pure foods products will be sold in the country store at reasonable prices to help defray the expenses incident to the undertaking.

Coffee and tea of the superior brands and sandwiches, dainties of all kinds will be served daily to visitors, the proceeds to be used for expenses.

At the country store prizes will be offered to children from 12 to 18 and adults for the best pound of home-made plain and fancy candy made in sanitary manner and accurate in weight. Candy sent by competitors cannot be returned but the prizes will be of sufficient value to induce candy makers to make the effort and give the best material in order to be the prize winners.

The Living Picture.

The most popular and interesting exhibit will be the living picture show made up of the babies who enter the Better Babies Contest. There are no requirements other than registration. The town will be divided into districts in which a drug store centrally located will be the place of registration. All mothers who will enter their babies are asked to call at the nearest drug store specified and write their name, address and baby's name upon a pad to be placed there for the purpose.

The names will be filed and a time appointed for each mother to present her child for examination. The babies will be weighed, measured and thoroughly examined and scored on printed forms furnished by the Woman's Home Companion. Thus a child of six months weighing the required number of pounds, having the proper measurements for his age will score 100. All those scoring 90 and above will be exhibited, photographed and pictures sent to the Woman's Home Companion for publication.

There will be several classes. The first six months, six months to one year, one to two years, two years to three. A double set of prizes will be offered, one for rural babies and one for city babies. All interested persons are asked to watch the papers for a complete list of prizes and cut out the article for reference later. The schools will be visited during the present week, and the announcements made to the school children and the names taken of those desiring to enter under different departments.

The list of drug stores where entries may be made is given below, but additions may be made later and more places designated where women may register their babies: B. C. Moore, H. L. Fentress, Brooklyn; Paynes' Fifth and Red Cross; Sasser's, Eighth and Market; Bunting's, Front and Grace; Hardin's Front and Dock; Mission Pharmacy, Front, between Princess and Market; Harper's Front and Castle; Hall's, Fifth and Castle. Mann's grocery, 17th and Market, for Carolina Heights and Carolina Place and Market street to 10th. Residents in the county can 'phone or register by postal card addressed to 1813 Princess street.

The Corn Show.

One of the leading features will be the Corn Show. One day of the fair will be known as corn show day, and especial attention will be paid to the agricultural part of the exhibits. The committee composed of Messrs. J. P. Herring, Geo. H. Hutaff and L. B. Sasser have secured from the citizens of Wilmington a neat sum of money which will be given as prizes for the best exhibits.

Everybody is invited to come and bring any farm product that they may wish to exhibit. If it is impossible to come the exhibits may be sent. This part of the show is intended especially to aid in developing the farming interests of this section. It is open to boys from any county in the State.

The boys who expect to have exhibits should be careful to see that the 12 ears of corn selected for exhibition should be as near alike as possible and that all grains are evenly attached to the cob. There is a great demand for selected seed corn which is increasing, and the boys who win prizes will have little trouble in disposing of his surplus seed corn at a good figure. Every boy should, therefore, be on hand with his best corn and be able to tell its best points and its advantage over corn grown in other sections that are not as well adapted to the soil as the home-grown seed.

This also applies to peanuts. Georgia, Florida and several other Southern States secure their supply of peanuts from North Carolina, and there is sure to be a demand for the prize-winning sort. The price for extra selected stock will always command fancy prices above the average figures, and are sought for by progressive people all over the Southern States.

No doubt many of the boys in the corn contests during the Summer who failed to win prizes feel a little blue over their failure while others are elated over their success. The intention of the Corn Club is to help those who have been successful and to assist those who have failed to be successful next season.

Following is a list of the prizes which will be given for agricultural exhibits:

Corn Prizes—For best 12 ears, $5; second best, $4; third best, $3; fourth best, $2.50; fifth best, $2; sixth best, $1.50; seventh best, $1. For the largest 12 ears of corn by weight a prize of $2 will be given.

Sweet Potatoes—For best bushel of potatoes, $5; second best, $4; best half bushel potatoes, $5; second best, $4; third best, $3; fourth best, $2; fifth best, $1. For the largest dozen sweet potatoes by weight a prize of $2 will be given.

Irish Potatoes—For the best half bushel of Fall-grown Irish potatoes, $5; second best half bushel, $4; third best, $3; fourth best, $2; fifth best, $1. A prize of $2 will be given for the largest dozen potatoes by weight.

Lettuce—For the dozen best heads of lettuce, $5; second best, $4; third best, $3; fourth best, $2; fifth best, $1. For the best all-round lettuce exhibit a prize of $2 will be given.

Turnips—For the best dozen turnips, $5; second best, $3; third best, $2.

Peppers—For best exhibit of peppers, $5; second best, $2.50.

Butter—For best pound of butter, $3; second best, $2.

Peanuts—For best half bushel of peanuts, $3; second best, $2.

Collards—For largest collard on exhibit a prize of $2.50 will be paid.

Y. M. C. A. BEGINS ACTIVE WORK

Many New Members Secured the Past Week—One Thousand by January 1st the Goal to be Attained.

With the opening of the new Y. M. C. A. building the past week an active campaign for new members was inaugurated by the membership committee composed of Messrs. W. A. McGirt, chairman; D. H. Howes and W. W. Koch. Many new members were secured, and this week it is expected that a large number will be added to the present enrollment of 200 or more. "One Thousand by January 1st, 1914" is the slogan of the membership committee, and there is every reason for believing that they will reach this goal.

The finishing touches have been made on the new building and everything is in readiness for taking up the active work of the association. The officers are anxious to have as many as possible of the young men of the city avail themselves of the advantages of the institution. They are grateful to the hundreds of citizens of Wilmington who have contributed towards the erection of the handsome new building, and they feel that with a substantial home, such as the Y. M. C. A. now has, that it has great possibilities for helping the young men of the city to live a clean, moral, upright life.

Well Officered.

The officers are as follows: Mr. D. H. Penton, president; W. P. Stacy, Esq., vice president; Mr. K. W. Price, recording secretary; Mr. Virginius Hall, treasurer; Mr. J. W. Yates, chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. J. B. Huntington, general secretary, has an able corps of assistants which will enable him to carry on the various features of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in a most efficient manner. Mr. Edward Roberts is the boys' work director, and he already has a large number of boys who have become members. Mr. J. P. Seitter is the physical director, and just as soon as the placing of the gymnasium apparatus is completed will begin active work in this department. The assistant secretaries are Messrs. S. B. Moore and C. F. Cline.

Splendid Equipment.

The funishings of the building are complete in every particular. In the basement is a large swimming pool, bath rooms and lockers. The heating apparatus is also in the basement. On the first floor of the building are the offices, lobby, reading room, boys' room and gymnasium. On the second floor are the lecture rooms of the association. The remaining floors contain living rooms which have been rented to the young men of the city. There are 65 in all, and they are furnished with every modern convenience.

In the boys' room is a reading department, a bowling alley and tables for other games. It will be devoted to the younger boys and will be separate from the other departments.

The association will endeavor to provide for the general welfare of the young men of the city in every detail. It aims not only to develop the physical side, but also the intellectual and the spiritual as well. To this end reading rooms are provided, and religious services will be held in the building each week. Later educational work will be taken up.

Gratifying Response.

With the many advantages that the Y. M. C. A. has to offer there should be no difficulty in securing the 1,000 members and perhaps more, long before the close of the year. The cordial response that the membership committee has received to their letters which were recently sent to many of the young men of Wilmington has been most gratifying. Their efforts have been rewarded with splendid success so far, and they believe that they have the opportunity before them of making this one of the largest associations in the entire State. It is their aim, however, not to make it the largest but the best. They realize that success does not consist in numbers merely but in advancing the welfare of the hundreds of young men living here.

Those who wish to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to become identified with an institution that aims to advance every side of life should send in their name at once either to Secretary Huntington or to some member of the membership committee.

Funeral This Morning.

The funeral of Mr. John Taylor, whose death occurred Friday night, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning from the family residence, No. 201 Church street. Interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

DAY OF PRAYER OBSERVED

Woman's Presbyterial of Wilmington District Met at Rose Hill Yesterday—Interesting Programme Rendered.

The Woman's Presbyterial, an organization of the women of the Wilmington Presbytery, observed the annual Day of Prayer at Rose Hill yesterday. It was largely attended, a number of women going from Wilmington to attend the services which were held in the Presbyterian church of that place. Mrs. Andrew J. Howell, of this city, is president of the Presbyterial, and presided over the sessions.

An enjoyable feature of the exercises was an illuminating address on present conditions in China by Rev. J. Mercer Blain, of Kashing, China. He has spent 17 years in China as a missionary and is now at home on a furlough. He gave a history of the progress that has been made since his first arrival in China, and pictured in graphic manner the great interest now being taken in Christianity by the Chinese. Especially notable, he said, is the liberation from bondage of the Chinese women. They are now being educated and are given the same advantages as the men. He told of the fight now being made on the opium traffic. A point especially emphasized in his inspiring address was the great opportunity now open to the church to carry the Gospel to the Chinese.

Dr. Frank Crawford, who is soon to sail for China to assist Dr. George C. Worth in his work, also attended the meeting of the Presbyterial and made a short address which was heard with the greatest interest.

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. W. P. M. Currie. Mrs. D. B. Herring, president of the local missionary society, welcomed the visitors in a short and appropriate talk. Following her came the splendid addresses of Rev. Mr. Blain and Dr. Crawford. The morning session was closed with a short talk in the interest of James Sprunt Institute by Mr. Henry Sprunt, of Kenansville.

At the close of the morning session the ladies of the local missionary societies served a delicious luncheon on the grounds of the church which was greatly enjoyed by all.

In the afternoon Mrs. Andrew J. Howell made a most helpful address on "Individual Responsibility." Devotional hour exercises were held, led by Mrs. R. E. L. Brown, of Chadbourn, secretary Local Home Missions; Miss Mary Sloan, of Garland, secretary Assembly's Home Missions; Miss Eliza W. Murphy, agent Hospital Fund. The meeting then adjourned.

The music was led by Miss Madge Southerland, and was a most helpful part of the exercises.

Among the ladies attending the meeting from Wilmington were Mrs. W. M. Cumming, Miss Margaret Craig, Miss Eliza Murphy, Mrs. A. D. McClure, Mrs. Linwood Latta and Mrs. Andrew J. Howell.

CRIMINAL OPERATION ALLEGED.

Coroner's Jury Investigating Death of Georgia Barr, Colored.

Georgia Barr, a colored girl living at No. 409 North Tenth street, died yesterday morning after an alleged criminal operation had been performed probably on Thursday. Dr. J. H. Alston, a colored physician, was arrested Friday on a charge of having performed the operation, and placed under a $250 bond. After the death of the girl yesterday he was re-arrested, and placed under $1,000 bond. Following her death yesterday Coroner John J. Fowler impanneled a jury to make an investigation of the death.

The jury is composed of Messrs. W. M. Cumming, foreman; C. H. Keen, secretary; E. P. H. Strunck, Hardy LaNier, J. E. Reville and D. S. Reville. They viewed the body yesterday afternoon and examined two witnesses after which they adjourned to meet again tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Justice Harriss was the first witness examined. He stated that Dr. F. W. Avant, a colored physician of this city, reported to him that a criminal operation had been performed upon Georgia Barr, and he immediately had Special Officer H. Mack Godwin make an investigation of the matter. As a result of his investigations warrants were sworn out charging Dr. Alston, Thos. Gause, Vivian Webb and Lossie Williams, all colored, with having performed the alleged operation. Later Vivian Webb and Lossie Williams were released.

Justice Harriss also went to the home of Georgia Barr Friday afternoon for the purpose of taking her ante-mortem statement as he had been informed that she would probably die. However, she was too ill to make a statement.

Dr. Avant was next examined and testified as to what he found when he was called in to see the girl. The jury then took a recess until Monday.

U. C. T'S. MEET.

Large Gathering of Traveling Men Last Night—Union Station.

The opening of the handsome new union station by the Atlantic Coast Line was hailed with great delight by the traveling men who make Wilmington their headquarters and they are glad to be able to tell the people in other towns they make what a fine station Wilmington has. Their appreciation of the new building is to be expressed in a formal resolution to be drafted by a committee appointed for the purpose by Cape Fear Council, No. 374, U. C. T., in regular session last night.

The traveling men are very much interested in the development of waterways and Cape Fear Council last night, named Mr. Horace Pearsall as delegate from the Council to the annual meeting of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association to be held in Jacksonville, Fla., in November. Mr. Pearsall expects to attend the meeting.

Announcement was made that Mr. G. W. Rodgers, of Columbus, O., supreme traveling representative of the order, would arrive in this city next Wednesday for a short official visit. Mr. Rodgers has been in this State for about a week and Friday night assisted in the institution of a new Council at Durham. He goes from Wilmington to Florence and Greenville, S. C.

Two vacancies in the official circle of the Council were filled by the election of Mr. Frank Hayes as page, and Mr. I. C. Loftin as sentinel.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. C. J. Roberts, the Senior Councilor, and Mr. L. H. Burnett, the secretary, kept a record of the proceedings.

COASTAL STORM IS ABATING

Revenue Cutter Arrives Up—Schooners Likely Total Loss—No Tidings of Yacht Lost on Monday—Rain.

The southern weather disturbance was still central off the Carolina coast yesterday but according to vessels arriving at the port during the day was of little consequence on the outside. Heavy rains continued in East Carolina but the outlook now seems to be for clearer weather.

The revenue cutter Seminole, Lieut. Covell in command, after being at sea for a little over a week, arrived up yesterday afternoon after having abandoned the effort to float the water-logged schooner John Twohy, previously reported ashore on Cape Fear bar, and after having spent the night in an effort to pull the schooner Greenleaf Johnson from a shoal on Shallotte bar. Both vessels will likely be a total loss though it is expected that the larger part of the cargo of each may be salvaged. The Seminole left Friday a week ago for a cruise in search of derelicts up around Hatteras, encountering the northeast gale all day Monday in the Gulf Stream about 200 miles northeast of Hatteras. She was constantly in communication by wireless with passing ships and went for the John Twohy in response to wireless advices, picking her up Friday morning 30 miles southwest of Frying Pan shoals, after the crew had been taken off, as stated in yesterday's paper. The sea was breaking over her, she was water-logged and her deck load of ties was gone. Her main deck was broken up and the masts were working, indicating that her bottom was broken and ties were floating out of her hold as she was towed out. The cutter proceeded with the tow until she reached the Cape Fear bar when she touched in middle channel abreast of the bell buoy as the cutter was just starting in with her. Then she drifted across and clear of the channel. The Seminole made an ineffectual effort to get her off, but this was impossible as the schooner was drawing 27 feet of water or over. As the derelict was clear of the channel and not a menace to navigation, Lieut. Covell turned the vessel over to the lifesaving crew and later the underwriters took charge.

Friday night the cutter sailed to the assistance of the Greenleaf Johnson, previously reported ashore on Shallote bar. She is lumber-laden from New York to Wilmington and was found by the cutter full of water and well up in the breakers with no possibility of floating her. There is, however, a good chance to salvage the cargo and the master and steward of the ship remained there to see what could be done to this end. The Seminole was obliged to come in for coal and provisions and to be in readiness to respond to any further calls that might come for assistance.

Lieut. Covell stated that he saw or heard nothing of the power boat Winneenah, previously reported as lost at sea Monday a week ago. The only tidings received of her here since she was abandoned are contained in a dispatch from Baltimore of Thursday, reading as follows:

Baltimore, Oct. 9.—A mystery of the sea was brought to port by Captain Pratt, of the Merchants and Miners' steamer Somerset from Savannah. When seventeen miles northeast by east from Frying Pan Shoals lightship Monday evening a finely furnished power yacht was reported by the lookout.

Captain Pratt went to it, but found it abandoned. The yacht bore the name "Winnenah, of Baltimore," on its stern. The officer in charge found no one on board, nothing missing and the vessel free of water. A line was secured fast to the boat, and the Somerset set out.

About 8:40 o'clock that night the line parted and the yacht went adrift. As seas were heavy, Captain Pratt did not seek to recover the vessel.

The Clyde Line Navahoe arrived up yesterday a day late on account of being delayed by the storm. She will probably not clear until late today or tomorrow for New York.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Light Docket Before His Honor Yesterday and Little Done.

The Recorder had a long list of cases for his attention yesterday but most of these were continued until Monday or later. James Davis, colored, was charged with violating the speed limit but as the evidence against him was entirely circumstantial he was acquitted. He was thought to have been the automobilist that ran into Mr. Chas. Borkenhagen about ten days ago knocking him from a wagon which he was driving and causing him serious injury. A nol pros with leave was taken in three cases against George Harris, Fred Mitchell and Augusta Waddell, charged with nuisance, on account of failure to secure witnesses. L. Sampson, colored, charged with violating the prohibition law, also got a nol pros with leave as did Charles Martin, colored, charged with riding a bicycle at night without light.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LENNON.

Many Friends Attended Services at First Baptist Church Yesterday.

Attended by many sorrowing friends the funeral of Mrs. D. D. Lennon, who died Friday night at the home of her brother, Mr. J. W. Hale, No. 706 Orange street, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster. The interment was at Masonboro Baptist church. Prior to her last illness she lived at Masonboro Sound. Many beautiful floral tributes attested the love and esteem in which she was held by a large circle of friends. The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. H. Alderman, B. T. Hopkins, L. F. Gore and M. N. Woody.

Dates for Tax Collecting.

Sheriff Cowan will be at the following places on the dates named for the purpose of collecting taxes for 1913 which are now due: Cape Fear township, Castle Haynes, Monday, October 27th; Harnett township, Seven Mile Post, Tuesday, October 28th; Seagate, Wednesday, October 29th; Federal Point township, Biddle Store, Thursday, October 30th; Masonboro township, Capps' store, Friday, October 31st.

Prominent Visitor Here.

Rev. J. C. Caldwell, D. D., president of Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C., one of the most distinguished divines in the Christian Church, arrived last evening and is a guest at the home of Mr. Frank Andrews, Ninth and Princess streets. Dr. Caldwell will preach this morning at 11 o'clock at the Dock Street Christian church and he will no doubt be heard with great interest.

CELEBRATED HER 90TH BIRTHDAY YESTERDAY.

The 90th birthday of Mrs. S. S. Burtt, the venerable mother of Mr. S. H. Burtt, was informally celebrated at the home of her son at The Carolina yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. During those hours a large number of the "young" friends of Mrs. Burtt called to see her, congratulating her upon her long and useful life and expressing the wish that she may celebrate many more birthdays. All of the callers were ladies except her pastor, Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, and his assistant, Rev. W. M. Craig. The latter offered a most fervent prayer for the long and useful life of Mrs. Burtt which has been a benediction upon all with whom she came in contact. Mrs. Burtt received a great many appropriate gifts from her callers and these were most graciously received by her. Among the gifts was a cake with 90 candles of red, white and green. Late in the afternoon the candles were lighted and they made a very pretty scene. Refreshments were served by Mrs. S. H. Burtt, who was hostess of the very pleasant affair. Mrs. S. S. Burtt is a remarkably well preserved woman and is very active both mentally and physically for one of her advanced age. She has many friends throughout the city who will wish for her many more happy birthday celebrations.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The County Board of Education will meet in regular monthly session tomorrow afternoon.

—An adjourned session of the Board of County Commissioners will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. There are a number of matters to receive the attention of the board.

—Suit was started in Superior Court yesterday morning by T. C. Morris against the Atlantic Coast Line. J. Felton Head, Esq., appears for the plaintiff. The complaint has not yet been filed. Late Friday afternoon an action against the Coast Line was started by the R. A. Wright Co. Mr. Head is attorney for the plaintiff in this case also.

—Deeds were filed for record yesterday as follows: Marshall L. Starkey to Mayor Parker Quince Moore, for $100 and other considerations, lot on southwest corner of Eighth and Harnett streets, 99x99 feet in size; John P. Brinson and W. M. Brinson and wife to John C. Wagner, Sr., and wife, lot on east side of Second street, 264 feet south of Nun street, 33x125 feet in size.

—A great many anglers of the city had fine sport on the Seashore Hotel pier at Wrightsville Beach Friday afternoon and evening when several drum were caught, varying in weight up to eight and nine pounds. One estimate places the number of drum caught at 500. The anglers say that the remarkable catch is probably due to the fact that favorable feeding ground was furnished near the shore by the recent storm.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. W. J. Kermon and children wish to express their appreciation of the many kindnesses shown them by friends during the recent illness and death of their husband and father, Mr. W. J. Kermon.—Advertisement.

NAVAHOE ENGINEER ARRESTED.

R. G. Morelle Charged With Selling Whiskey—Gave Bond.

Because he is alleged to have sold intoxicating liquors yesterday R. G. Morelle, second engineer on the Clyde Line steamer Navahoe, was arrested last night by Constable Davis. The warrant alleging the sale was sworn out before Justice Harriss by Mr. H. Mack Godwin. Morelle gave a cash bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance before Justice Harriss a week from next Tuesday when the Navahoe is due to be in port again. He will leave this morning on the Navahoe for New York.

He is the second one of the employes of the Clyde Line to be charged with violating the prohibition law. John W. Steerer, head steward on the Cherokee, is out on a cash bond of $200 for his appearance before Justice Harriss next Tuesday. The Cherokee is due to be in port at that time.

Cotton From Up River.

COTTON MARKET WEAKENED

Prices Fell Two to Twelve Points Because of Fear of Bad Weather in the Southwest. Futures Easy.

New York, Oct. 11.—After an early advance on strong cables, reassuring Manchester news and fears of bad weather in the Southwest, the cotton market weakened under renewed liquidation, reports of increased offerings from the Eastern belt and an unfavorable view of Wall Street conditions.

The close was easy at an advance of three points on October, but generally 2 to 12 points net lower. There was quite a rush of buying orders at the opening and first prices were 9 to 14 points higher. This was in line with the showing of the Liverpool market and it looked as if many of yesterday's late sellers were covering on private cables from Liverpool indicating that the threatened lockout of mill employes in Manchester would amount to any serious disturbance. There was also a good deal of anxiety over weather conditions owing to the prospect for lower temperatures indicating frost for parts of Oklahoma and Texas. These features, however, failed to inspire any general buying and the market was weak in the late trading. The unsettled situation in Wall Street was accompanied by considerable Wall Street selling and there was also considerable selling here by one of the large spot interests accompanied by reports that Southwestern spot holders were offering cotton more freely. Closing prices were the lowest of the day. General business was probably restricted to some extent by holiday considerations and there was doubtless a good deal of evening up for over Sunday and Monday.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 13.70; middling gulf 13.95; no sales. Futures closed easy.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REPORT

Uncertain Outlook for Trade—Doubt as to Effect of New Tariff Is Said to be the Main Cause.

New York, Oct. 11.—Uncertain outlook for trade, the money situation and governmental relations to business entered as factors in forming the prevailing sentiment in the securities market this week.

The unfavorable deductions drawn were reflected in the stocks' downward movement.

Of trade prospects, conditions in the steel and iron industry were most influential. Doubt as to the effect of the new tariff rates explained the halt in buying orders. The United States Steel Corporation's unfilled tonnage orders for September showed a decrease for the ninth consecutive month.

The decrease in supplies of refined copper and the reduction of the world's stocks to a figure marking extraordinary statistical strength did not prevent a fall in the price of the metal both here and abroad. Future demand is not relied upon as sufficient to take up the scanty supplies.

The crop influence was alleviated to some extent by week's events. The government report increased the estimate of field of corn for the month. Cotton prospects were improved, the weather conditions were said to be favorable for planting of Winter wheat.

Poor railroad earnings drew attention to the contest of the railroad for high freight rates and against wage advances to Eastern trainmen.

Government activities were taken into account in the suit to divorce Southern Pacific and Central Pacific and in the progress of the banking and currency bill. Money markets showed the Autumn forces of depletion still at work. Customs payments on imports released from bond by the new tariff law, made a drain on the New York market.

STOCK MARKET STILL LOOSING

New Low Point Reached in the Protracted Decline of Stocks—Fractional Rally Yesterday. Bonds Weak.

New York, Oct. 11.—A new low point was reached today in the protracted decline of the stock market.

There was an increased supply of stocks from traders on both sides of the market with the chief impetus coming from bears. The raid with which they began the day's trading was the most successful of any drive of the present movement, and prices were forced down one to two points in the first few minutes. Later there came a fractional rally, but the list did not hold its advantage and the close was near the lowest.

The conspicuous point was the entire crippling of the market's buying power. Disturbance in Mexico was seized on by the bears as some ammunition. The bank statement made a better showing than had been looked for.

Weakness continued in bonds, with Steel 5s falling to par. Total sales par value, $935,000. United States 2s and Panama 2s and 3s declined 1-4 and U. S. 4s advanced 1-8 on call on the week. Total sales stocks 215,700 including: American Tobacco 100; C. & O. 700; Lehigh 900; L. & N. 300; Reading 41,900; Southern Railway 200; do preferred 200; Tenn. Copper 200; U. S. S. 37,700.

The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $7,957,250 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $4,642,100 from last week.

WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.

Market Declines 68 Points Net During Week.

New Ooleans, Oct. 11.—The cotton market was subjected to much selling pressure this week, chiefly from liquidating longs, and prices steadily showed a downward trend, except for a while on the closing session when the market felt the influence of the cold wave threatening the cotton region.

The net result of the week's trading were a decline of 53 to 68 points.

The high prices were made on Monday and the low prices on Saturday. At the highest the trading months were 7 points up to 7 points down, compared with the close of last week; at the lowest they were 55 to 71 points under last week's close. The range was 61 to 64 points.

Better weather conditions in the cotton region, and an over-bought future market were the main influences at work. Bears had the advantage and added a considerable volume of short selling to the offerings. The decline was generally called a natural reaction after a long continued advance.

At the end of the week the market had a better undertone and bulls claimed that it had been cleaned of the larger part of its long interest.

The statistics of the week were bullish, chiefly because of the large mill takings. For the week takings of American cotton were put by Hester at 303,000 bales against 198,000 this week last year and 289,000 this week two years ago. They caused much bullish comment.

OLD SOL SHINES AGAIN.

Peeped Forth From Behind the Clouds Late Yesterday Afternoon.

After having been obscured by dark and dreary clouds for the better part of a week, Old Sol peeped forth amidst the mist shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the sight of his familiar face brought gladness and good cheer to Wilmingtonians who have had to wade water and wear rain coats during the past week. The heavy rains ceased Friday and for a parting shot the weather man yesterday sent a drizzling rain which was to say the least, not pleasant.

Shortly before noon it looked as though it would fair off, and many were jubilant, but their joy proved to be short lived for soon the mist came again. The misty rain, however, didn't dampen the ardor of enthusiastic fans who gathered in front of The Star office to get the baseball scores from New York. They didn't care about the weather; they wanted to know who was going to get the championship.

With the beginning of the world's series the rains came, and with the wind-up the sun broke forth. Some fellow who doesn't care a hurrah for the National sport had the temerity to suggest that perhaps the coming of the sun was due to his gladness that the agony was over and that once more the world can rest in peace. Anyhow, the ball season closes and the rain has departed. While some were disappointed with the results of the ball games, there is not a single person in this vicinity that isn't glad the sun shines once more.

waiter as a token by the members of the House. Mr. Allred, of Johnston, making the presentation speech for the majority and Mr. Williams, of Cabarrus, for the minority. Mr. Murphy expressed his appreciation.

The House adopted the report of the special committee to investigate the circumstances of the Baumgartner bill to take Wilkes out of the seventh and place it in the eighth Congressional district. The report specified that Baumgartner had violated the confidence of the House. The report was adopted 84 to 3.

The bill to provide for the construction and maintenance of the Salisbury & Raleigh highway passed third reading.

After declining to concur in the Senate amendments to the Justice rate bill, the House authorized the speaker to appoint a conference committee, Messrs. Justice, Woodard and Weatherspoon being named. Mr. Justice explained that the Senate had omitted the table of rates, a very fatal defect.

The bill to work State convicts on public roads passed. The real fight of the day was on a bill to appropriate $68,000 for the completion and maintenance of the school for the feeble minded at Kinston. Mr. Dowd moved that only the indebtedness of the board be paid at this time, an amount of $18,000 and declared he thought it better to refund to Kinston its part of the money unless the management of the institution is more careful. He criticised the board for electing a superintendent six months in advance of the opening and making his salary large enough to offset this. The discussion went over to the afternoon session, when the Dowd amendment was voted down 66 to 20 and the bill passed its readings and was sent to the Senate.

Representative Justice reported to the House for the conference committee that the committee recommended that the Senate amendments to the Jusice bill for intra-State freight rates be concurred in. This was done and steps taken to correct defects in the passage of the bill by putting the bill as amended through all readings again and sending it by special messenger to the Senate for similar action.

A bill to appropriate $43,600 for various State institutions was presented from the committee on appropriations. Mr. Doughton explained that Raleigh citizens had pledged $4,600 toward the purchase price of the new site purchased near the penitentiary for the State school for the blind. He thought these Raleigh citizens ought to be required to comply with their pledge. A resolution was adopted directing the attorney general to investigate and force collection, if possible. The bill for the appropriation passed.

It was found that records of the House could not be gotten in shape for a session tonight for final adjournment and 92 members pledged themselves to remain over until Monday for the finish.

From 8 to 11 o'clock tonight the Senate threshed out differences as to the House bill for the State school for feeble-minded at Kinston and in the end voted 36 to 2 for the appropriation of $98,000 to pay indebtedness, complete the buildings and open the institution along with maintenance until the 1915 Legislature. An amendment by Bryant, of Durham, provides for the addition of three members to the present board. This grew out of strenuous attack made by Senators Jones, Gilliam, Bryant, Wakefield and others as to the expediency of maintaining the institution at all and more especially charges of mismanagement. Included in this was multiplying debt in violation of legislative limitations, paying salaries of superintendent, engineer, stenographer and others at the institution for more than a year without any inmates at all. It was charged that the addition of three directors was to get Dr. Hardy out of the superintendency and the charge was made that this was unfair as he was no more responsible for mismanagement than the directors. Before the bill passed an amendment by Senator Jones to appropriate only the $19,000 to meet indebtedness and then leave the institution with a capable caretaker until the next Legislature meets and decides on a policy was defected.

The Senate adjourned at midnight until Monday at ten o'clock.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

To the Tditor of The Star:

There has been, or is now being organized in this city, a Commercial Club, and while the writer is in no wise familiar with its object, its name has a mellow ring to those of us who have been associated with commercial organizations in other cities.

The most optimistic resident of any city, regardless of its location or its growth, knows the vital consequences of a live, energetic, enthusiastic, red-blooded business men's organization when fired with the proper spirit, and boost Wilmington should be written so deep into its charter that those of pessimistic views regarding the city's future would walk a city block to avoid contact with one of its members.

Every reader and observer of the progress made by cities in the South can but cast enviable glances at Atlanta, Memphis, Birmingham, Dallas, Houston, Jacksonville and Tampa, and note the wonderful strides made by these cities in the past decade. One may say that natural advantages had much to do with their phenomenal growth, and this may be true to a certain extent so far as Birmingham is concerned, but the others were not made but made over by their commercial organizations' tireless, ceaseless effort on the part of their commercial bodies, and with the aid of every traveling man who made one of those cities his headquarters. Just at this time there is an extra effort being made by every seaport of importance from Maine to the Rio Grande to prepare for additional business. Situated as is Wilmington, the coastwise heart of the South Atlantic, the seaboard gateway of a vast section of wonderfully productive country, with deep water at her doors, and tapped by two great transportation lines whose rails permeate the entire Southeast, with a home State whose factories, farms and forests are valued at $501,000,000, which in 1912 produced $150,000,000 worth of cotton, $44,000,000 worth of corn, and 1,750,000,000 feet of lumber, whose banking resources are $115,000,000 true property value $1,130,000,000 and with fourteen million acres of unimproved lands, there is plenty of work for a Commercial Club. Get Busy.

On the 12th day of October, 1492, Columbus was watching on the deck when land was sighted and at 2 A. M. the Island of Guanahani spread before him. His troubles were over and he had many. His crew had been in a mutinous state to throw him overboard.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS GATHER HERE TOMORROW

An event of interest to many Masons in the State will be the annual Fall reunion of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry which will be held in Wilmington beginning Monday, October 13th, and continuing through Thursday. There will be over a hundred visitors, who are high in the ranks of the Masonic fraternity, and many local members who will take part. While the reunion will be of interest primarily to the Masons, it will also appeal to those unacquainted with its mysteries for its members are recognized universally as being the best and noblest in all occupations and professions.

While Masonry is a great fraternity, more widely diffused than most of the other lodge associations and embracing the most select men in the community, in principle it is much more than that. To care for the orphan and to advance the interests of mankind in general is its motto.

The Scottish Rite among Masons is supreme for its ceremonial and dramatic presentation of ritual and for its richness of legendary and historical conception. It is essentially the rite of the philosophy of Freemasonry. Freemasonry is defined by those competent to know as the science of philosophical morality, and therefore in the Scottish Rite is found the crowning principles of the Masonic fraternity.

The Ancient and Accepted Rite of Freemasonry, consisting of 33 degrees, has a long and honorable history, being an outgrowth and amplification of the Rite of Perfection of 25 degrees, which was organized in Paris in 1754. These degrees in turn were evolved from other and older rites.

The government of the Rite is lodged in Supreme Councils, one for each nation, except the United States, which has two Councils, the Northern, having jurisdiction over States north of the Ohio river, Mason and Dixon's line and east of the Mississippi river, and the Southern, having jurisdiction over the other States.

On the 31st day of May, 1801, the Supreme Council of the Southern Masonic Jurisdiction was duly organized and proclaimed at Charleston, S. C., being the first Supreme Council organized in the world. Prior to the organization of this Council the government had been vested in the hands of officers called Deputy Inspector Generals. Although this Supreme Council has its See or Grand Orient, nominally at Charleston, S. C., for many years its biennial meetings have been held at Washington, D. C., in its Temple where are located the offices of the Sovereign Grand Commander and the Secretary-General.

Although the Scottish Rite consists of 33 degrees it does not confer the first three or "Blue" degrees in the United States and other English speaking countries where these degrees are recognized as being under the control of the Grand Lodge of Symbolic Masonry, but confines itself to the degrees from the fourth to the 33rd inclusive.

The Ineffable Degrees as conferred in the Southern jurisdiction begin with the fourth and extend through the 14th. In Valley, as North Carolina is known among Scottish Rite Masons, these degrees are conferred by the Johnson Blakely Lodge of Perfection, No. 5. These degrees will be conferred on the first day of the Fall reunion here.

The historical and religious degrees begin with the 15th and extend through the 18th, and are conferred by Cape Fear Chapter No. 3, Knights Rose Croix. These degrees will be conferred on Tuesday of this week.

The chivalric and philosophic degrees begin with the 19th and extend through the 30th, and are conferred by Council No. 3, Knights Kadesh. These degrees will be conferred on Wednesday.

The official degrees are the 31st and 32nd, and are conferred in Wilmington Consistory No. 4, Masters of the Royal Scout. These will be conferred on Thursday, and arrangements have been made with a number of the members of Carolina Consistory No. 1, Charlotte, to confer the degrees at this reunion, and it is expected that there will be many visiting Masons from Charlotte here Thursday.

The 33rd Degree Honorary is conferred only by the Supreme Council, and as a reward for faithful and distinguished service to the Rite on those who have been previously honored with the rank of Knight Commander of the Court of Honor. It cannot be petitioned for.

There will be at least 75 candidates from various sections of the State for the different degrees. There will also be many visiting Masons, high in the official councils of the Scottish Rite. The visitors will begin arriving today and by Monday night it is expected that there will be several hundred Masons in attendance upon the reunion.

During the reunion there will be a banquet given in honor of the visitors. The time and place will be announced later.

The following committees have been appointed to look after the various features of the Fall reunion:

Credentials—Messrs. James C. Munds, chairman; H. G. Smallbones, W. B. McKoy.

Entertainment—Messrs. H. E. Longley, chairman; Stuart R. Keyes, J. F. Leitner.

Programme and Printing—Messrs. Stuart R. Keyes, chairman; C. B. Newcomb, L. A. Scott.

Candidates—Messrs. C. B. Newcomb, chairman and director of class; H. A. Huggins, G. C. McIntire, E. L. White, F. G. Rose, A. S. Holden, L. A. Scott.

Floor Directors—Messrs. Stuart R. Keyes, chairman; W. A. Whitney, H. W. Colwell.

Scottish Rite Choir—Mrs. Mattie Longfellow, soprano; Mrs. James D. Smith, contralto; Mr. Greene Fenley, tenor; Mr. Herbert K. Holden, bass; Mr. Alfred H. Yopp, organist.

Sketch of Gen. Albert Pike.

In connection with the announcement of the details for the gathering of Masons in this city this week an intimate sketch of Gen. Albert Pike, by one who knew the great Masonic leader, will be of interest. It appeared in the Birmingham Age-Herald last Sunday, and was called forth by the approaching Scottish Rite reunion in that city. The following is the article from the Alabama paper:

General Pike's memory, as forecast in the beautiful sentiment printed here, written by him, is revered wherever the Masonic fraternity meets on lorge, council, chapter or consistory. The ineffacable impress of the man, intellectual luminary that he was, will ever be felt in the work and the ethics and philosophy of the Scottish Rite:

"He has lived; the fruits of his labors live after him.

"When I am dead, I wish my monument to be builded only in the hearts of my brethren of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, and my name to be remembered by them in every country, no matter what language men speak there, where the light of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite shall shine, and the oracles of truth and wisdom be reverently listened to."

The following interesting and intimate sketch of General Pike was written by one who knew him as probably no man living today during the last years of his life:

"Comparatively few of the Masons who will attend the Scottish Rite reunion in Birmingham this week had a personal acquaintance with Gen. Albert Pike, who died in 1891, and who had been for more than 30 years grand commander of the Supreme Council of the thirty-third degree for the Southern jurisdiction of the United States (mother supreme council of the world), but the name of Pike will be always a household word in Masonry, as it will be ever an honored name in the world of letters.

"It was my privilege to be intimate with General Pike during the last 10 years of his life. He lived in the official residence of the Scottish Rite at Washington—styled the 'holy house'—and as I spent much of my time at the national capital I embraced the opportunity of cultivating him.

"General Pike was a man of giant frame and, as all know from steel engravings, he was picturesque and patriarchal. He was a kingly man in all matters of punctilio, and in his authoritative manner of speech and writing, but in personal life he was singularly democratic; was as plain as plain could be. Although he was the head of the Scottish Rite, and devoted all his time to the rite during my acquaintance with him, he was approachable every moment of the day and the humblest person could meet him without the formality of an introduction.

"He was a tireless worker and wrote much, using up to the last a quill pen. The secretary general of the Supreme Council had his office in the official residence, but Gen. Pike employed no stenographer or private secretary. He answered all his correspondence himself with his quill, and during the course of 10 years I had stacks of letters from him discussing various questions upon which I had drawn him out.

"At the age of 81 Gen. Pike was a wonderfully robust looking man. He was fastidious in his tastes. He did not eat much, but he was fond of rare dishes. He drank choice old wines, but he was always moderate in his drinking. He was not only not addicted to strong alcoholic stimulants, but it was only occasionally that he tasted anything stronger than light wine. But he was a great smoker. His work table was covered with all sorts of pipes and I was never with him as long as 10 minutes at a time that he did not fill up a pipe and start to smoking.

"When Gen. Pike was elected grand commander of the Supreme Council he found the rituals meagre and, as he told me, without philosophy or literary merit. Had he done nothing more for Masonry than invest the high degrees with poetry and philosophy and enrich them with scholarly and eloquent English, he would have left a great monument. But he was a prodigious worker and all his Masonic lectures, manifested and allocutions were virile and convincing.

"Although he was naturally kindly disposed, Gen. Pike was scathing when attacked by a foe. His pronouncements against 'Cerneauism' were notable specimens of his argumentative skill and his trenchant pen.

"Gen. Pike sought to raise the Supreme Council to the dignity of the leading 'Masonic power' in the world. It had a primacy, of honor, but he made it felt on both sides of the Atlantic as a distinct force. Among his grand representatives near various Supreme Councils were men of much distinction. His official representative in England was the late Capt. Nathaniel George Phillips, who was an officer in Queen Victoria's household. His representative in Scotland was the Earl of Kintore. His representative in Belgium was a noted jurisconsult and his representative in Greece was Prince Rhodicanockus.

"Gentlemen of culture who happened to be Scottish Rite Masons could easily obtain letters of introduction from Gen. Pike to any of his representatives abroad and such introductions were always highly honored. Capt. Phillips in London and Lord Kintore in Scotland were especially gracious and hospitable to anyone bearing a letter from Gen. Pike.

GENERAL ALBERT PIKE.
Great Masonic Leader and Scottish Rite Mason.

"Soon after Gen. Pike took up his residence in Washington he conferred the 33rd degree on King Kalakaua of the Hawaiian Islands. A little later, when the dark skinned monarch made a trip to Europe for the purpose of negotiating a National loan, Gen. Pike as grand commander wrote official letters to Supreme Councils on the other side of the water suggesting that as the Hawaiian king was an honorary inspector general, 32rd degree, he be formally entertained by the Scottish Rite Masons in the countries he visited.

"Some of the Supreme Councils on the continent gave banquets in honor of King Kalakaua, but the Supreme Council of England took no action, and while he was presented to Queen Victoria, the grand commander of the Supreme Council of England and Wales showed him no attention whatever. Gen. Pike considered this nonaction as a slight to him as well as the 33rd degree king, and issued a letter of rebuke to the English Supreme Council, made up largely of noblemen and his highness, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, 33rd degree—afterwards King Edward—as honorary president. This letter appeared in Gen. Pike's official bulletin and was reproduced in the daly press. It made quite a column in the newspapers and wound up something like ths: 'It must be distinctly understood in the future that when he wrote a letter commending a king to the consideration of Masons of the Scottish Rite, it must be respected, or he would know the reason why.'

"In the 80s when Queen Liliuokalani, a sister of King Kalakaua, succeeded to the throne on the King's death, I asked Gen. Pike if he intended calling on her. He replied that as her aide de camp was Col. Dominis, 33rd degree, etiquette would make it proper for the colonel to call on the grand commander first and present the compliments of the Queen. He told me that in the event this was done he would then call on the Queen, but not otherwise. Col. Dominis called on Gen. Pike, and the next day Gen. Pike, accompanied by several prominent brethren, drove in state with a mounted police escort to the hotel where the Queen and her suite were stopping. A cordon of police kept back the crowd from the entrance to the hotel; and as I witnessed the scene I recall that there was considerable formality. Gen. Pike wore the insignia of his high office and was preceded by a Masonic functionary who corresponded somewhat to a tipstaff of the old days. This man carried a wand and walked in front of the grand commander, moving backward so as to face his chief. I doubt if there had ever been before such ceremonial affair in Washington outside of the White House.

"The day after Gen. Pike called on Queen Liliuokalani, I happened to drop in to see him and found a poor workman visiting him. I was struck more than ever with the grand commander's benignity. He showed as much interest in the company of this unlettered caller as if he had been a grandee or a master in the republic of letters.

"When Gen. Pike died the city of Washington lost one of its most distinguished looking citizens and one of its most potential characters. His funeral took place at midnight according to the ritual which he himself had written years before—the funeral service for a Knight Kadosh."

Pike the Poet.

Gen. Pike was the author of several poems of deep and thoughtful expression, beautiful in phrasing and exquisite sentiments. It is not easy to select the best of several, but at this time and for the occasion of the Scottish Rite reunion the profound thought of "Every Year" are given:

EVERY YEAR.

Life is a court of losses,
Every year;
For the weak are heavier crosses,
Every year;
Lost Springs with sobs replying
Unto weary Autumn's sighing,
While those we love are dying,
Every year.

The days have less of gladness,
Every year;
The nights more weight of sadness
Every year;
Fair Springs no longer charm us,
The winds and weather harm us,
The threats of death alarm us,
Every year.

There come new cares and sorrows,
Every year;
Dark days and darker morrows,
Every year;
The ghosts of dead loves haunt us,
The ghosts of changed friends taunt us,
And disappointments daunt us,
Every year.

To the Past go more dead faces,
Every year;
As the Loved leave vacant places
Every year;
Everywhere the sad eyes meet us,
In the evening's dusk they greet us,
And to come to them entreat us,
Every year.

"You are growing old", they tell us,
Every year;
"You are more alone," they tell us,
Every year;
"You can win no new affection,
You have only recollection,
Deeper sorrow and dejection,
Every year."

Too true! Life's shores are shifting,
Every year;
And we are seaward drifting,
Every year;
Old places, changing, fret us,
The living more forget us,
There are fewer to regret us,
Every year.

But the truer life draws nigher,
Every year;
And its Morning-star climbs higher,
Every year;
Earth's hold on us grows slighter,
And the heavy burden lighter,
And the Dawn Immortal brighter,
Every year.

DANIELS BANDS INTOXICATION.

Secretary Warns Naval Officers Against Any "Public Scandals."

(Washington Post.)

Secretary Daniels will insist on an official report on the case of Ensign Chevalier, one of the navy aviators, arrested in Baltimore after running down two boys with an automobile. The Secretary also announced that he proposed to deal drastically with charges of intoxication among naval officers.

"If an employer chooses to overlook intoxication in one whose wages he pays, that is another matter," said Secretary Daniels. "No one is hurt. But intoxication of a naval officer is a reflection on the entire service, and on the administration which fails to deal with it effectively and firmly. The naval officer is in the pay of all the people, a public official, and must not give occasion to public scandal."

Indianapolis, Ind., motorcyclists will make a three-day run to Mammoth Cave October 18, 19 and 20.

BEST JUDGE OF MERIT.

"The people are the best judges of merit," said Poor Richard. For nearly forty years women have been buying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; they keep on buying it, and they will continue to buy it just as long as it proves such a wonderful success in curing female ills. Enormous quantities of roots and herbs are used annually in making this good old-fashioned remedy and the test of time has proved its merit.

CAROLINA BEACH

Wilmington's Future Resort and Its Phenomenal Grows Within the Past Two Years.

Three years ago Carolina Beach was known to Wilmingtonians only and to a limited number of us, possibly twenty-five, not over fifty property owners represented Carolina Beach.

The foresightedness of Mr. J. J. Loughlin and Mr. A. W. Pate, two progressive young men, in their purchase two years ago of the New Hanover Transit Company's holdings containing several hundred acres of land and the present railroad from the river pier to the ocean, was a gigantic undertaking. The proposition taken over by them, few people realized the importance. Grit and the master of all problems, stick-to-it-edness has made them the proud possessors of the most beautiful all year resort on the South Atlantic coast.

Carolina Beach is the only accessible by auto ocean beach in the South, and with the completion of the present highway now under construction Wilmingtonians will be proud of the annexation.

Grit will accomplish wonderful things. During the past year over two hundred building lots have been sold on Carolina Beach and several new cottages added to the resort. This Winter Pate & Loughlin say cottages will spring up like mushrooms.

These young men have in their office several sets of plans for the use of their lot purchasers showing pretty four, five and six-room bungalows with large porches, kitchens, shower baths and toilet, that can be erected for four, five and six hundred dollars.

Mr. Loughlin says that not less than fifty of their lot owners who have bought this Summer have signified their intentions of building this Winter.

So great has been the demand from the interior of the State for Carolina Beach lots since the close of the Summer season that Pate & Loughlin have found it necessary to open another section of property west of the railroad. This section will have wide streets, good walks, playgrounds, sewerage and good water, water supplied from the company's present waterworks, which is now being enlarged to meet the demands of the coming season.

Mr. Pate says, "We are not going to wait until Spring comes to start work, we have a force of hands on the job today and on the grounds, and they will remain until the work on this section is completed. Our efforts have been to make Carolina Beach an all-year-round resort and I am positive we have accomplished one-half of our desire. We have today on our books about 200 lot owners. No, they don't all live in Wilmington. We have some in Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Virginia. We have had but one man to visit Carolina Beach who did not buy and a great number of our sales have been made to people who have never seen the resort. We accomplish this through our sales force and the strict integrity of our office. We allow nothing said about Carolina Beach that does not exist and we make no claims we cannot substantiate to the satisfaction of the most skeptical. Our salesmen can talk all day on the desirability of Carolina Beach as a resort and its good points and can then go home and think of some good things to say next day.

This Winter we propose to enlarge our present sewerage and water system and make some extensions to our railroad. The large area west of our public pavilion, we are going to park out and fix up with swings, merry-go-rounds and other amusements as a playground for the small children. This we think all mothers will greatly

Why the New
Wilmington Commercial Club?

No city making any pretensions whatever to progress can prosper in proportion to its possibilities without co-operation through the medium of a strong, enthusiastic, harmonious organization.

THE POSSESSION OF A PRODUCTIVE COMMERCIAL ORGANIZATION IS THE MOST VALUABLE ASSET A CITY CAN HAVE.

Commercial organization is the dynamo which furnishes that wonderful force so indispensable in the development of a municipality—ENTHUSIASM.

A Commercial organization is one of the foundation stones in the building of a city.

The Wilmington Commercial Club will be organized to promote the welfare of Commercial Wilmington. Prompted by public spirit, every citizen should feel a keen personal sense of obligation to join and support it.

Over Fifty new applicants for Charter Membership this week! Announcement of Mass Meeting of members will be made in next few days. Send in your name to be enrolled as charter member, and arrange to have a voice in the permanent organization.

THEATRICAL

Monday Night—Annie Russell and Company.

Tuesday Night—"A Girl of the Underworld."

Thursday, Matinee and Night—"The Leopard's Spots."

With this big array of great dramatic attractions, running the gamut of emotion and meeting the exacting requirement of every taste, the Academy of Music offers theatre-goers of Wilmington a big week. The engagements for the present week will be inaugurated tomorrow night, when the distinguished actress, Miss Annie Russell and all-star company, will appear in a brilliant scenic revival of "She Stoops to Conquer," and the people of Wilmington will indeed miss something rare if they fail to be on hand and see the noted actress.

It will likely be the dramatic treat of the season. Seats went on sale at J. Hicks Bunting's drug store yesterday. Tuesday night comes the big moral play of the present day problem, "A Girl of the Underworld," and due to the fact that there are so many attractions this week the scale of prices has been made small, running only to 50 cents, and seats can be reserved at Bunting's tomorrow morning. Thursday, for two performances, comes the sensational Tom Dixon's play, "The Leopard's Spots." Seats go on sale Tuesday morning at Bunting's.

It is also well to note that the latter part of the month the Academy has booked for a special appearance the famed Primrose and Dockstader Minstrels.

Scene from "Girl from the Underworld," Academy, Tuesday Night.

Coming of Miss Annie Russell.

Few persons not familiar with theatrical affairs can appreciate the greatness of the task, and, consequently, the importance of the achievement signified in the undertaking and the successful issue of Annie Russell's Old English Comedy Company, which comes to the Academy of Music tomorrow night in "She Stoops to Conquer."

Last season in New York three important plays were acted—"She Stoops to Conquer," "Much Ado About Nothing," and "The Rivals"—three ambitious productions which left a lasting impression of charm and beauty upon a large and intelligent public that is not interested in the average theatrical offering of the day. The credit for this achievement belongs to Miss Annie Russell, whom theatre-goers in this country and in England have known in the past for a certain delicate and polished dramatic method and great personal charm, but not for any managerial effort. Miss Russell has high ideals, and the successful launching of her comedy company is their realization. It was her own capital that was used to finance her artistic pilgrimage which "practical" managers had little hope for at the beginning. But the venture has resulted in practical success.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot recently said of the production:

"There is small wonder that present day theatrical producers are flooding the country with a lot of dramas dealing with the sordid and sensual sides of life, and musical shows that are notable for their suggestiveness in words and actions and the minus quantity of their female wardrobes.

"It requires only an audience such as that which was scattered here and there in the Wells last evening to give the reason.

"Several times during the short course of the present season this theatre has been packed from pit to dome by a mass of humanity anxious and eager to see and hear something ribald or sensational. Last night when the first really great theatrical offering of the year was given, the vacant chairs outnumbered those occupied.

"The fact that the presenting company is one of the most select body of players upon the American stage today mattered not. The fact that Miss Annie Russell, the star, is one of the most eminent of English-speaking actresses, counted as nought and the fact that the play itself, Oliver Goldsmith's delightful comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," written before the Declaration of Independence was penned, has survived the years and is as fresh and as sparkling today as it was when first produced, was the offering, mattered less.

"No wonder the men who put money into theatrical enterprises for the sake of getting money in return are not doing anything to elevate the morals of the stage.

"That this play should have endured a century of frequent presentations and still be considered worth reviving speaks in itself for its merit. That Miss Russell's production has met with the flattering reception it deserves in places other than Norfolk makes it all the more to be regretted that the people of this city did not rise to the occasion, so seldom available in these days, and enjoy it.

"A more perfectly presented production than that which was given last night is not often to be seen. Miss Russell is the embodiment of what Goldsmith must have wanted his Kate Hardcastle to be. Her interpretation of the role brought out the value of its many subtle parts in a way that was a delight to look upon. And the Marlowe of Mr. Oswald York was a fine piece of dual character work—bold, roistering blade in the company of his inferiors, bashful, retiring youth with his equals."

"The Girl of the Underworld."

"The Girl of the Underworld" that palys at the Academy of Music Tuesday night, tells more genuine story in an evening than all other plays on this theme. "The Girl of the Underworld" shows mothers and daughters the pitfalls of vice. It shows nothing is ever derived from vice. It shows the lures to young girls alone in New York; the wages of sin. No matter how small a disguise when you're branded once, you are disgraced. If unsuspectingly you should trust someone you thought good, honest, true and loving, only to find them low, mean and degrading, what would you do? You would not know what to do. If you who were innocent were dragged down to disgrace because you loved some one unworthy would it be right? "The Girl of the Underworld" shows you the wrongness of such action. Isn't it a lesson, isn't it something to know, isn't it worthy of going to see? You will acknowledge this. "The Girl of the Underworld" is everything which sas been said in its praise. The best show of its kind ever written.

Sensation Promised.

The sensation of the present theatrical season will again be provided by Thomas Dixon, whose plays, "The Clansman" and "The Sins of the Father," caused so much discussion.

The play that will stir the country this year is "The Leopard's Spots," dramatized by Mr. Dixon from his famous novel of the same name. This was the author's first literary work and everybody is familiar with its history. Suffice it to say, that it was a tremendous hit and ranks as one of the best sellers today. Over 500,000 copies have been sold and it is still selling 50,000 a year.

Mr. Dixon has departed now and then from the text of his book in order to make his play stronger and to bring it up-to-date. In this direction some surprises are in store for the readers of the book, which will make the drama even more interesting than if it followed the novel too closely. Audiences will therefore be kept on a constant lookout for a new thrill. Many of these surprises are promised during the course of the performance.

"The Leopard's Spots" will be seen here on Thursday, at matinee and night( seats on sale Tuesday morning at 8:30) under the personal management of Thomas Dixon.

Back Together.

After a separation which had existed for nearly ten years, Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader decided to consolidate their respective minstrel companies into one mammoth organization and to present to the public their big revival of old-time minstrelsy. This arrangement was entered into last year. The success of the undertaking was instantaneous. Practically every city of importance in the United States and Canada were visited and on several occasions engagements of from two to five weeks were played in order to accommodate the many who sought admission. Although a strict adherence to minstrelsy as it was created by Billy Whitlock, some 70 years ago, is maintained, Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader have given their revival a most sumptuous scenic and costume investiture.

Big Demand by Mail for Seats.

Undoubtedly Thomas Dixon's latest dramatic attraction, "The Leopard Spots", will be greeted by two large audiences when it is presented at matinee and night at the Academy of Music Thursday of this week. The demand by mail for tickets has been unusually large and as to this, Manager Comes begs that it be stated that only orders for seats by mail will be filled when accompanied by cash or check for tickets. Out-of-town orders will only be acceptable in this way and will be filed and filled in the order received. All orders should be addressed to Manager Comes, of the Academy of Music.

Merry Musical Comedy.

Saturday of this week the Academy will offer a well known star, Bert Leigh, in a well known music show, George M. Cohan's "The Little Millionaire." A splendid company will be seen, including Hazelle Burgess, and it will be one of the most attractive events of the season. The attraction will be offered at both matinee and night and the matinee prices will be of the popular 25 and 50 cents for any seats in the theatre. The highest price at night, save for box seats, will be but $1. The attraction comes highly praised by the press.

At the Bijou.

Seemingly the weather, no matter how it scowls, holds no terrors for amusement lovers when the popular Bijou is open. The past several days the weather has been of the very disagreeable brand and yet the Bijou did a rushing business. There not only was found a big show, but solid comfort, the warm, cozy kind, to put such weather to rout, was on tap. The large audiences the post several days exemplified conclusively the great popularity of the Bijou.

Tomorrow begins the new week, and the Bijou will inaugurate the new period with one of the best bills it has ever presented and one that will possess rare charm for every one. Lubin's greatest dramatic, "In the Southland," is the headliner. It is a tale of Italians, who come South to settle, and it bristles with thrills, coming as the result of hot-headedness of the Italians. It is something new and novel.

Pathe's latest Weekly, depicting current events in movable manner, is also a feature and this particular film is the best so far produced. "Toad Traits," is an exceedingly interesting photoplay on tomorrow, while one of the prettiest, will be found in "Hot Springs and Geysers of New Zealand." There will be other big features, thus making tomorrow a red letter day at the attractive, ever magnetic Bijou.

Grand Theatre.

The Grand yesterday brought another fine week to a glorious close, large audiences being on hand in spite of the very inclement weather, and is all spick and span for the new week, which will be opened in a blaze of glory, so to speak, tomorrow afternoon. The bill for tomorrow is a most fascinating one and is of splendid variety, so as to appeal to all tastes. "Playing With Fire," is one of the strongest films on tomorrow's bill, telling a story of how a grafter, a get-rich-quick fellow plays his game in the West, after invelgling an honest Westerner into standing sponsor for him. It is an exciting story that will be immensely enjoyed.

Another strong dramatic is Pathe's "The Climax," which is the story of a brave girl, who has a crook for a brother. She becomes a trained nurse and marries the man her brother had shot. The climax is the startling and novel part of the great film story. There is also a great educational film on tomorrow in "Jerusalem and the Holy Land."

MAY CHANGE CLAUSE.

In New Tariff Bill Allowing Five Per Cent Reduction.

Washington, Oct. 8.—If the consent of Representative Underwood and other House leaders can be secured, a joint resolution will be passed through Congress within a few days, repealing that portion of the new tariff law authorizing a 5 per cent tariff rebate on goods imported in American-owned ships. The decision to request this action was reached by administration officials today after experts of the State and Treasury departments had decided that to carry out the exact terms of the provision would mean a reduction of 5 per cent in tariff on goods from practically all of the chief exporting countries except Brazil Russia and France.

After a conference with President Wilson, in which the latter gave his endorsement to the plan, Solicitor Joseph W. Folk, of the State Department took up with Congressional leaders tonight the plan to have the objectionable clause eliminated.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, gave assurance that the Senate undoubtedly would agree to a repeal of the entire clause as it had originally rejected it.

An attempt was made to reach Representative Underwood over the long distance telephone, but Mr. Folk could not locate him in Atlantic City, where he had gone for a short vacation. It is expected Mr. Underwood will be consulted tomorrow and that House leaders will accept the decision of the administration.

Kill Catarrh Germ Use Booth's Hyomei

Try the sure and most effective way to reach the raw, tender inflamed mucous membrane infested with catarrh germs—breathe Hyomei. All druggists sell it.

You cannot reach the nooks and crevices of the breathing organs with liquid preparations; there is only one way—breathe a few times daily the germ destroying air of Booth's Hyomei. It acts directly on the inflamed membranes and destroys the catarrhal germs.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, spasmodic coughing, or any other symptoms of catarrh, use Hyomei at once. It will destroy the disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, and give quick and permanent relief, or money refunded by Robt. R. Bellamy.

The complete outfit including pocket inhaler and bottle of liquid costs $1.00, extra bottles of liquid later needed, 50 cents.

Teach Your Child How to Be Healthy

Regular Bowel Movement From Infancy Insures Good Health in Later Years.

We cannot all start life with the advantages of money, but every child born is entitled to the heritage of good health. Through unfortunate ignorance or carelessness in the feeding of a baby its tiny stomach may become deranged. The disorder spreads to the bowels and before the mother realizes it the two chief organs on which the infant's comfort and health depend are causing it great suffering. If the condition is allowed to continut grave ailments often result.

There is, however, no occasion for alarm, and the sensible thing to do—but it should be done instantly—is to give the baby a small dose of a mild laxative-tonic. In the opinion of a great many people, among them such well known persons as the parents of Bertha Lee Woodard, 3 years old, of Moultrie, Ga., the proper remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. I. N. Woodard says that little Bertha was troubled with constipation for over a year, and that after trying several different kinds of remedies she found her relief in Syrup Pepsin. It is a mild, pleasant-tasting laxative, which every person likes, does not gripe nor cramp, and contains that most excellent of all digestants, pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is especially intended for infants, children, women, old people and all others to whom harsh cathartics, salt waters, pills, etc., are distressing. In fact, in the common disorders of life, such as constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, biliousness, headaches and the various other disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels nothing is more suitable than this mild laxative-tonic, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Three generations of people are using it today, and thousands of families keep it constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the size bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Heavy Rains in County—Health Work—New Train Hailed With Delight—Other Items of Interest in Lumberton.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 11.—The heavy rains which have fallen during the past three days have about put a stop to all kinds of business. The rainfall for Thursday was over 4 1-2 inches, while for yesterday it was only .69. The river is said to have risen four feet yesterday and last night was reported to be within four feet of high water mark.

The rains were not altogether responsible for the rise in the river as much of the water came from the mill pond which was drawn off at Moss Neck Thursday. But the heavy downpour did much damage to streets in town a number of bad washes occurring. The road leading from town to the cotton mills in the eastern part of town was so badly washed out near the Dresden Mill that it will be impossible for several days. The V. & C. S. track where it crosses Fifth street was six inches under water yesterday; and small washouts were reported at different places along the line. The R. & C. track was reported to be under water at several places between here and Marion. Yesterday morning the water was running across the roadbed of the Seaboard five miles above here. The conductor and engineer on the early train from Wilmington this morning said the whole country between here and Wilmington was flooded but that the water was falling. The rural route carriers from here had all kinds of trouble trying to make their trips on account of washouts and swollen streams. After trying different roads other than those usually traveled, two or three carriers returned much behind time without reaching all of the people.

Robeson county has the credit of being the second county in the State to secure a physician to devote all his time to health work. When the office was created nearly two years ago, many people thought it an unwise step to invest the county funds in such a project but now the best people in the county are in hearty sympathy with the health movement. In Dr. B. W. Page's county health officer's report to the commissioners Monday the fact is shown that the death rate from preventable diseases has been reduced about 60 per cent. The death rate from tuberculosis in 1911 was 133; in 1912, 105, nine months of 1913, 40. Typhoid fever in 1911, 37; in 1912, 7; in 1913, 9; diphtheria, in 911, 12; in 1912, 6; in 1913, 2, and almost an equal reduction for other preventable diseases. From this report and from our correspondent's own observations, he is convinced that real health work will certainly reduce the death rate. At the close of 1912 Dr. Page asserted that the new office was costing the average citizen less than one cent per dozen for human lives. Any person can see now that it is costing less than that, but aside from the reduction in death rate, the office more than pays the county in other ways. School inspection had led to the treatment of many cases of adenoids and tonsilitis, thereby giving new air, new life and changing dull, sickly children to lively, healthy ones. Robeson is one of the best counties in the State in many ways and why not make it so in health conditions?

The proposed new train on the Seaboard between Wilmington and Hamlet, if put on, is going to be of great benefit all along the line. It will be great to be able to leave Lumberton three times a day over the Seaboard, twice on the R. & C., and twice over the V., C. & S. Plenty of trains and cheap rates should make people move about more than they do. The writer, who at that time, was working for the Seaboard, sold the first ticket from Lumberton to Raleigh via Hamlet, the fare being $5. Now it is only $2.70. At the same time the fare to Wilmington was $3.40, while at present it is only $1.70. In those days it took about ten hours to go to Raleigh, while under the proposed new train service, it will be less than six hours. While it required at least four hours to go to Wilmington it now requires a little over two hours. It would seem that the railroads then charged for time on trains more than distance traveled.

Mr. Archie Morrison, who has quite a number of mules and horses, says he does not expect to buy any feed before the new feed crop arrives next year as he is well supplied of his own raising. From four acres of land he gathered in the Spring and early Summer fully eight tons of oats; since then over eight tons of pea-vine hay, and he says if frost stays off till November 1st, he will get another hay crop from the same land. Besides this four-acre tract he has other hay fields.

The next attraction at the opera house will be Bert Leigh in the "Little Millionaire," Tuesday night the 21st. The show comes with the highest recommendations from the press and those who have seen it.

A class of children from the Oxford Orphanage will give an entertainment in Lumberton Friday night, the 17th.

Mr. G. S. McKenzie has re-opened his job office here and it is understood that the Robesonian will also add a job printing plant to its property here.

Notwithstanding a correct statement of the fact in last Sunday's Star and Monday's Robesonian, it has been told around here that the four men arrested for gambling and fined $50 were members of the Mutt & Jeff Company, which played here Friday night. They were not even in the State when the affair occurred and, of course, are not guilty as reported.

The plant of the Robesdn Advance is advertised to be sold at public auction October 25th to satisfy a chattel mortgage.

September 6th, a postal card was mailed at Lowe, five miles west of here on the Seaboard, for a gentleman in this place. That card reached its destination October 8th, just one month and two days traveling five miles. Fast mail!

A handsome monument has been erected at the grave of the late Mr. Richard M. Norment in the Norment cemetery here. At their request a number of Dr. Norment's friends were allowed to contribute to a fund for the erection of this monument as a token of their respect and esteem for a departed friend.

The Legislature has amended the Robeson bird law and hunters will do well to investigate before they begin killing birds, but from the way people are posting their lands in this section it does not seem that there will be much hunting ground.

The civil term of court adjourned Wednesday. The next term will convene Monday, November 3rd, first week criminal, second civil.

All business houses of Jewish citizens were closed today for the holiday. The Jews have many other people beaten in observing holidays for some of the merchants never take a day off but Sunday and they wouldn't do this if it wasn't for the law.

"Aunt" Patsy Jones, Cherokee Indian, residing with relatives on Sheriff Lewis' plantation five miles from town, died Wednesday afternoon, aged 108.

Besides the two circuses here this month three small week-stand tent shows are threatening to come.

It would take a paper several times the size of The Star to give a full detailed account of the trouble at Moss Neck Thursday and would require more skilled reporters than are employed in the State to put the story in shape. The number who were slashed from small scratches to long, deep cuts will probably never be known, while if reports are anything like true, the cracked heads could not be counted. An Indian man, badly cut, and a negro woman, shot in the leg, are at the Thompson Hospital here for repairs. Quite a number of Lumberton people who were present when the row started declare it was the roughest time they ever saw, and not a white man lost any time getting away. It is stated that one Lumberton man who could not get room under the church where some of them took refuge, finally did find a place of safety in a hog pen.

Mr. B. H. Osborne, of Maxton, opened a new meat market here this morning, occupying the small building at corner of Fifth and Elm streets, which has in the past been used many times for the same kind of business.

FEDERAL AID IN ROADS.

Department of Agriculture Will Co-Operate With States.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—Secretary Houston, of the Department of Agriculture, says that the State and Federal governments should work together for highway improvement in order that a large proportion of the money annually spent for road construction may not be wasted.

In his own department the office of public roads has been demonstrating the value of proper road building by the construction of a certain object lesson roads, and the forest service is carrying out his idea of National and State co-operation in road building. The law requires that 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the National forests shall be spent in the States in which the forests are situated. This money is expended for road improvement under direct control of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The amount appropriated under this act, based on the receipts of the National forests for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, is $23,638.68. From the 1912 receipts for this 10 per cent road item, there is an additional $134,831.10, which is still available.

In administering the 10 per cent road fund, forest officers charged with the actual plans and expenditures in the neighborhood of their forests have, in almost all cases, secured an equal or a larger co-operative fund from State authorities for the building of certain pieces of road.

With the money thus expended many important roads are being built or put in repair. One on the Wyoming National forest, six miles long, makes accessible to farmers a large body of timber and opens up a region of great scenic beauty. In northwestern Arizona, part of the fund will be used in connection with the LeFevre-Bright Angel road, important because it makes accessible to tourists the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. In one place, the Ocean to Ocean Highway crosses the Apache National forest, Arizona, and on this project the forest service and the local authorities co-operated enthusiastically. On the Florida National forest in western Florida, steel bridges and graded roads have, under the stimulus of this fund, taken the place of corduroy, bog and sand.

This Federal road fund is now available in all National forest States of the West. Just as fast as returns come in, the forestry officials say, a similar fund will become available in States in which Eastern National forests are being secured.

PROFITS IN PTANUTS.

Once Despised Edible Now Important Source of Income in South.

(From Richmond Times-Dispatch.)

"Once regarded as a symbol of insignificance, the peanut is now earning a respectable place in the country's commerce and agriculture," says the Atlanta Journal, restating a long-established fact in Virginia's experience. Millions are invested in plants for the manufacture of peanut products, while thousands of acres in the South are devoted to the cultivation of this excellent crop. A Texas correspondent of the Manufacturers' Record writes that more and more the Texas farmers are being convinced of the value of the peanut crop, and are using it not only to fatten their stock and enrich their soil, but also as a source of direct income.

"The Texas crop last year brought an average price of 85 cents a bushel, and this year, because of a general shortage in the country, it will bring much more. The average yield of peanuts in Texas is from 40 to 50 bushels and under the best conditions even 75 bushels. Taking these figures as a basis, the Record's correspondent makes an interesting comparison between the certain profits of the peanut and the uncertain price of cotton.

"It takes about 500 pounds of seed cotton," he says, "to make a third of a bale, or, say, 160 pounds of lint. There is a cost of $5 for packing alone, and even at 15 cents a pound for cotton on the market, there is but $15 an acre to recoup the farmer for rent of land, interest on his investment, cost of seed, and labor. At present prices the peanut crop is worth $15 to $20 with a modest yield per acre. Planting and gathering his crop will cost only a few dollars an acre, instead of $10 or more for cotton."

It is also observed that in a dry season, when cotton cannot be made, peanuts flourish. "Practical experience in this connection has brought conviction to many farmers, and they now devote a part of their land to peanuts, and fatten stock instead of relying exclusively on cotton." The peanut obviously is playing an important part in crop diversification. It is rapidly growing in popularity throughout the South.

CENTRAL CAROLINA FAIR.

Arrangements Well Under Way at Greensboro—Colored A. & M.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, Oct. 10.—Arrangements for the Central Carolina Fair which will be held here from Tuesday to Friday of next week are about complete. The officials have been hard at work this week making arrangements for late entries and providing space for shows that have asked for space on the midway. The agricultural exhibits this year will be larger than they have ever been before. It is noteworthy that Guilford farmers are taking a more lively interest in the exhibits and show more rivalry than ever before. In all other departments there are unusually big entries, while the special free attractions are of a high character. A large number of special policemen were named today to look after the conduct of visitors upon the grounds. The directors by a unanimous vote decided that the fair ground gates should be closed next Sunday to keep people away who from curiosity want to go in on Sunday.

President D. H. Hill, of the State Agricultural & Mechanical College, made an address yesterday afternoon before the students of the A. & M. College for the colored race here. It was a very able and practical effort and was appreciated by the faculty and student body. He congratulated the colored men upon their ambition and effort to make of themselves better men and more efficient and useful citizens. C. W. Gold, of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, was also present and spoke briefly to the students.

The annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A. of Greensboro, was held last night, at which Miss Florence Cain, the general secretary, made her annual report. This showed that the association had more than 700 members, the largest in its history, and had done a splendid year's work.

Diamond Merchants at Amsterdam Alarmed—Summer Visitors in Paris—Bacon at Lisbon. Topics in London.

(By Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, Oct. 11.—The diamond merchants of this city are in a panic over the proposed 20 per cent import duty on diamonds in the new American tariff. The honest merchants affirm that they will no longer be able to sell to American dealers for the reason that unscrupulous houses will offer diamonds on the American market which have been smuggled.

The 20 per cent difference in the price of the smuggled and the unsmuggled diamond will, it is averred, allow the dishonest houses to pay their agents well for smuggling and yet take a large profit. The result from the American customs' standpoint will, it is believed, show that the net revenue following the passage of the bill will be less than it was before under the 10 per cent rate.

There are, it is estimated here, 40,000 diamond cutters in the world, and one-fourth of these cut diamonds for the American market. But only 300 diamond cutters are in the United States. Some 10,000 cutters are working here and in Antwerp. Some thousands of these men will be out of work if the American bill passes, temporarily at least, because while the bill has been pending the surplus stock of diamonds has been exported to the United States. These exports will meet the demands of the American market for from six to nine months after the bill is passed.

Paris Summer Visitors.

Paris, Oct. 11.—Every Summer brings to Paris, among the hordes of American visitors, a number of men vitally interested in the administration of the police departments of various American cities. They come to investigate how "these things are done in Europe," with the view to improving their own departments at home. They are welcome visitors at the Paris Prefecture of Police, and in the person of Emile Laurent, General Secretary of the Paris Prefecture, they have found a courteous host, but at the same time an official who has asked almost as many questions as he answered. Mr. Laurent's curiosity as to police conditions in America has given him a rather definite opinion as to what may be the matter with the American system. This is what he has to say on the subject:

"It is not my business to criticise the American police, but I venture to express my personal opinion that a fundamental error in the American system is that insufficient attention is given by the administrations of police in American cities to the characters of the recruits. Our system in France is to make a minute examination into the record of the applicant for admission to the force. We assume that a man who has at any time been guilty of the least dishonesty has a flaw in his character which will affect his conduct when he is exposed to the temptations of a policeman.

"The prefectures of police assume that if a man has reached the age of 24 without a blemish on his character, he will remain honest for the rest of his life. Candidates must have their written records of conduct while in the schools and in the army. Even a single bad mark often disqualifies. I do not consider the French system infallible, of course, but the rarity of scandals indicates that it is a good one."

Bacon Speaks at Lisbon.

Lisbon, Oct. 11.—Robert Bacon, at one time Secretary of State in the second Roosevelt administration, spent several days in Portugal previous to sailing for South America, whither he has gone in the interest of better and closer relations between nations.

"Personally, aside from my mission," said Mr. Bacon in this connection, "no country holds for me more interest than South America. When I was in the State Department South American affairs had a peculiar interest for me. Now more than ever the attention of the world is being directed to the continent south of the United States, which is developing in a way that has no comparison in history except with our own development. In a little while the Panama Canal will increase this rapid growth, particularly on the western coast. Our intellectual and commercial relations, already very important with South America, will grow, and the isolation that now prevents many persons from the United States from traveling to southern continent will largely disappear."

Mr. Bacon is visiting South America under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. In further explanation of his journey he said:

"The movement which has behind it, in America, Senator Root, President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia College; James Brown Scott and others associated with them, has very definite and specific purposes and practical methods of accomplishing them.

"The membership of the Institute of International Law comprises some of the most learned men of Europe and America, who hold regular meetings to discuss the laws that govern the relations of nations. Now a similar institute has been established for South America, and a part of my work will be to encourage the formation of branches of this society, of which Senator Root is president.

"I will discuss also the arrangement of exchanges between the universities of South America and those of the United States, of both professors and students, and also the exchange visits of individuals. By these means the nations must acquire a more intimate understanding of the problems that each one faces, and the peoples must be drawn into a closer intellectual and spiritual relationship."

Confederate Money in London.

London, Oct. 11.—Evidence frequently crops up that the confederate bills that came to England during and after the Civil War are far from exhausted, but it is seldom that anyone is asked to cash $5,000 worth of them.

This occurred a few days ago to an official of the American embassy. Two members of a family, the head of which had recently died, called to ask whether the embassy would not give them English money for ten $500 Confederate bills, which had been found among the effects of the deceased and which the family thought were of the value indicated on their face. Great was the disappointment when the official pointed out that the bills were of no value, except as a curiosity.

Petty swindlers often attempt to ass Confederate bills of small de-omination on unsuspecting trades-ople, and the police of London have quently to deal with them. It is y seldom, however, that this old ey turns up in such large amounts 5,000 at a time.

anks to the present industrial prosperity and old age pensions, pauperism is at a lower ebb in Great Britain today than it has been for some years past. Early this year the total number of paupers in England and Wales was under 800,000, as compared with 950,000 four years ago. The number of paupers per thousand of the population, which was 27 four years ago, is now less than 22.

J. Herbert Lewis, Parliamentary secretary to the local government board, who gave these figures in his presidential address to the Poor Law Conference, said there were many influences which had brought about the reduction, but he gave first place to old age pensions, which had reduced old age pauperism among the outdoor poor to a very small figure.

One of the great aims at present was that children should be removed from the poor houses. Already something has been done in this direction, and in England and Wales for every two children in these institutions there were about five children receiving relief from the municipality while boarded out in families.

Middlesex Hospital reports "remarkable improvement" in several cases of cancer treated by radium. One of the surgical staff, describing the results obtained, said: "We do not maintain that we have cured these cases by radium. What we have done is to cause growths proved miscroscopically to be cancerous to disappear in a truly astounding way under the radium rays."

The records of three cases are given. In the first a man with a large cancer blocking up the back of the nose and throat had lost all sense of smell; could not breathe through the nose, and was deaf in the right ear. A platinum tube containing 82 milligrams of radium was embedded in the tumor and left in position for 12 hours. Five days later the growth had shrunk perceptibly, and the sense of smell and ability to breathe through the nose were regained. After three weeks treatment no trace of the growth could be found, the man regained his hearing, and he was discharged apparently cured.

Another patient, a woman suffering from a large abdominal cancer, is still under treatment, but has also improved wonderfully. In this case the platinum tube containing 144 milligrams of radium was embedded in the tumor and left for 24 hours. In 12 days the woman had gained 23 pounds and the cancer had shrunk to half its former size.

The third patient, a man suffering from cancer on the back of the tongue, was similarly treated and three weeks later no signs of the growth could be observed and the man was discharged apparently cured except for the presence of two or three secondarily involved glands about the collar bone.

A great drawback to the work is the lack of radium, of which the hospital has but 144 milligrams.

Many surgeons in London treat these reports from Middlesex with polite skepticism. They cite cases where cancers have disappeared by themselves, and say radium should be used only as a last resort, since it almost always fails to do any permanent good.

Slow to take up the aeroplane and airship as a weapon of defense and offense, the British Admiralty is now making up for lost time. In addition to buying, building and experimenting with every kind of air craft, it is today constructing a network of naval stations around the coast.

As in all matters of National defense the northeast coast, where Germany would be expected to strike in case of war, is receiving first attention and already the east coast of Scotland whence the approach of a hostile fleet from across the North Sea could best be observed, is fully equipped. A station has just been completed at Dundee, which helps to bridge the space between the twin station on the Forth and that at Fort George on the Moray Firth. Other stations have been completed or are in course of construction at Stonehaven, Montrose and Scapa Flow, and these will be linked by one or two more in between them.

At the present time three British aeroplane factories are turning out machines for the admiralty, while material for machines put together at the stations is purchased from French firms. Those in close touch with the work say marvelous progress is being made, and that England will very soon have a formidable aerial fleet.

After an examination by X-ray and otherwise of the hearts of 250 athletes and 300 students, Dr. Bender, of Budapest, would discard the term "sport heart" as used on the continent for cardiac dilation in athletes.

His examinations were confined chiefly to defining the outlines of the heart. He found that of those persons who had been taking part in athletic sports and active bodily exercise for a year or two the majority manifested some dilation of the heart, which, however, did not at all interfere with their health. He was inclined to regard such dilation as a semi-physiological condition with those who are habituated to athletic sports and exercises. His conclusion is that such exercises, even when decidedly energetic, are not injurious because the vascular system and the cardiac action gradually adapt themselves to the slight dilation.

Neither does arterio-sclerosis occur in a greater percentage in athletes than among other persons. Of course the conclusions apply to normal and healthy subjects and not to those who are addicten to any excesses or over-indulgence in alcohol or tobacco.

ATHLETICS AT TRINITY.

Mass Meeting Hears Interesting Addresses.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Oct. 10.—"You are getting too soft, too indolent, too much inclined to take things easy," declared Dean W. I. Cranford to the students of Trinity College in a mass meeting last night, following a spirited address by Mr. W. G. Shepherd, a student of the law school here, in which he deplored the fact that Trinity is not now putting out athletic teams like she used to "when Bob Gannt was here."

The mass meeting, which was called for the purpose of boosting athletics at Trinity, was marked by the lack of the usual enthusiasm. All the speakers up to Mr. Shepherd spoke in what appeared to be an apologetic strain. In a listless sort of way they entreated the student body to stand behind the team, although they seemed to doubt if the teams were going to be worth standing behind. Most of the star athletes who were here last year have gone to other colleges of the State this year on account of inducements offered by these institutions, and the students here were somewhat downcast over the prospects of the season.

The principal address of the evening was made by Mr. W. G. Shepherd. He made an eloquent speech pleading for athletics here based on the same principles observed by the other colleges of the State. This speech set forth ideas in direct opposition to the stand that Trinity is taking in regard to athletics. His stirring appeal, however, was well received by the majority of the students.

Dr. W. I. Crawford refuted the argument of Mr. Shepherd in a clear and convincing manner, and struck home to the heart of the matter. He declared that if the men of Trinity College had grit enough and were willing to sacrifice luxury, there is plenty of muscle and brawn in this college to put out the best teams in the South.

"You have all the physical ability necessary," he declared. "What you need is mental fibre; a will to do. Even though we do not have Bob Gannts here now, half the men in college can develop into as good players as he was if they have the will power to do so. It is not brawn that always counts; it is the will to persevere through adversity and to keep in rigid training."

Dr. Few, president of the college, explained the attitude Trinity is trying to uphold. He said that each man at Trinity ought to be proud to be a member of the college which was the first in the State taking a definite stand against unclean athletics. He said that he was thoroughly interested in athletics, but that he wants to see them on a wide, sound, wholesome foundation here. He emphasized that athletic life should be merely incidental.

"There are three attitudes in regard to athletics," said Dr. Few. "First, that attitude as typified by the monastic life of the middle ages; second, as typified in the attitude of the Roman gladiator and the Spanish bull fighter; and third, as expressed by the ancient Greeks.

"Trinity upholds the attitude of the last mentioned. We do not look upon athletics as something to be abhorred as did the old Monks; de do not believe that athletics should take a predominant place in our life and that athletics should be bought and sold, as did the old Romans and do many of the institutions of our State; we do believe that college life is not complete without clean, wholesome athletics. But, we believe that the athletic development should be brought about as it was among the old Greeks, a part of their regular education."

At the conclusion of the speeches, Dr. Few announced that the new ball park would soon be ready for use. He said that the contract had already been let for building a high brick wall around it. On the wall ivy is going to be grown, and when it is completed it promises to be one of the best athletic parks in the entire South.

DR. F. S. LOVE LEAVES.

Will Take Up Important Work in Brazil Soon.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 11.—The pastorate of Rev. F. Swindell Love, at Queen Street Methodist church here, will end tomorrow morning, at which time Mr. Love will preach his last sermon to a Kinston congregation. The popular young minister with his family will leave Monday morning for New York, from which port they will sail for Brazil, to remain at least five years, unless circumstances compel them to return to this country sooner. Mr. Love's charge here is one of the most important of the churches of the Southern Methodists in East Carolina, and his influence here and in the Conference has been so marked that his departure for the foreign field will create a vacancy that will be difficult to fill. Mr. Love was born at Monroe, N. C. He is an A. B. graduate (1908) of Trinity College, where he did special work in English, philosophy and economics, and an A. M. graduate of Columbia University in the department of political science. This work was done preparatory to teaching political science in Soo Chow University, China. A failure of health made the realization of this plan impossible, and Mr. Love remained in America and his native State. He joined the North Carolina Conference at Newbern in 1907, and his first regular ministerial work was done in Kinston in 1909, from the time of the late Dr. Frederick Swindell's death until the conference meeting, when he was appointed to the Morehead City station. Thirteen months later he was again appointed to the Kinston station, where he has served till the present time. His present pastorate here saw the completion of the handsome new church of the Queen street congregation.

In June of this year the board of missions of the Methodist church, South, found that the resignation of Mr. Daniel Lambuth, son of Bishop Lambuth, from the faculty of Cranberry College, in Brazil, left the departments of English and psychology without a man, and an appeal was made to Mr. Love, who at once accepted the place, and to begin this work closes his ministry of nearly three years in Kinston tomorrow.

Cranberry is perhaps the most influential school in Brazil. The country is new and the masses are uneducated, but the men who have the educational life of one of transition. Mr. Love, in speaking of his new labor, says the time "is a crucial one, and the lines are being cast for generations." It is a movement that appeals to a man of vision and power. Besides the literary and theological work the college does, there are schools of dentistry and pharmacy. The enrollment is about 500. While the majority of the professors are native Brazilians, the direction of the school is in the hands of the North Americans. The college is about 80 miles from Rio de Janeiro and situated in the city of Juiz de Fora.

The latter place has a small American colony, who enjoy such modern conveniences as street cars, etc. There are several private colleges at Juiz de Fora, and a cosmopolitan life. It is a place of possibilities and much wealth.

SAFETY AT SEA.

Report of Secretary Redfield's Committee for London Meeting.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield's Committee on Radiotelegraphy, to prepare recommendations for the use of the American delegation to the International Conference on Safety at Sea, to be held in London, November 12th, has made its report. The committee recommends:

1. That efficient apparatus for radio communication be required on all ships in foreign trade which carry 50 persons or more (passengers or crew, or both combined), navigating the ocean between ports more than 200 nautical miles distant from one another.

2. That apparatus, to be deemed efficient, must transmit messages with sufficient power to be received by day over sea at a distance of at least 100 nautical miles by a ship equipped with apparatus equal to that of the transmitting ship.

3. That an auxiliary power supply should be provided, independent of the vessel's main electric power plant, which will enable the sending set for at least four hours to send messages over a distance of at least 100 nautical miles by day.

4. That (a) two first-grade operators should be required on all such ships maintaining a constant service, also on all such ships carrying 100 or more passengers.

(b) One first-grade and another first or second-grade operator should be required on all other such passenger ships.

(c) One operator (first or second-grade) and one cargo operator or watcher should be required on all such cargo boats.

The recommendations of the committee are based not only on the laws of the United States but also in principle on the London International Convention and the laws of Canada and Australia. The laws of Canada and Australia do not specifically require a constant wireless watch on cargo boats, but authorize the administrations of those colonies to impose that requirement.

The second operator or watcher on a cargo boat will rarely be required for the safety of his ship or the crew of which he is a member. The constant watch is to be maintained almost entirely for the purpose of enabling the master of the cargo boat to be at all times in a position to receive radio distress calls and to render the assistance within his power. The proposition, accordingly, is in the interests of the safety of the seafaring world, and is, in effect, a tax upon the owners of such cargo boats for the promotion of the safety of others.

The committee comprised E. T. Chamberlain, commissioner of navigation, chairman; W. H. G. Bullard, captain, U. S. navy, superintendent of naval radio service; C. McK. Saltzman, major, U. S. army, assistant to chief signal officer; Jno. Q. Walton, constructor, revenue cutter service; Frederick A. Kolster, bureau of standards.

Of General Interest

The estate of Benjamin Altman, dry goods merchant of New York, is valued at $45,000,000. He died Tuesday.

Five thousand bankers attended the past week the 39th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association in Boston.

Yuan Shi Kai was elected President of the Chinese Republic Tuesday. He is 54 years old and regarded as well qualified to rule.

A million dollars damage was done the first of the week at Nome, Alaska, by a terrific storm, in which, however, there was no loss of life.

Pressing a key at the White House at 2:02 o'clock Friday, President Wilson set off the charge that exploded the Gamboa dike throwing the water of the two oceans into the Panama Canal.

Allan A. Ryan testified at the Sulzer hearing Tuesday that the Governor attempted to secure the influence of Murphy to stop the impeachment trial saying he "was willing to do what was right in return therefor."

The case for the defense in the Sulzer trial was concluded at Albany Wednesday, the Governor declining to go on the stand for fear that his action woud be construed as "hiding behind his wife" to clear himself.

The 43rd triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church opened in New York Wednesday, 113 Bishops and more than 600 lay and clerical delegates being in attendance, sessions to continue until Oct. 24th.

Chicago has discovered a modern blue-beard Henry Spencer, who confessed Sunday to the murder of a dancing teacher, and fourteen others. Spencer is an opium fiend and is working under a highly-colored imagination, the police say.

The Federal army in Mexico has taken Piedras Negras, the final step being without bloodshed, though there had been fierce fighting the day before at Peyotes; Washington is advised that conditions are anything but favorable in Mexico City.

The world's championship baseball series began in New York Tuesday when the Nationals of that city were defeated by the Philadelphia Athletics, of the American League, 6 to 4; more than 36,000 people attended the opening game. New York defeated Philadelphia Wednesday 3 to 0.

President Wilson grew impatient of the currency bill delay first of the week and summoned several Congressional leaders for conferences with a view of expediting the legislation; he is also at work on his anti-trust campaign legislation to be launched at the regular session in December.

Louis Marshall, for the defense, and Alton B. Parker for the assembly managers, occupied Thursday in their arguments in the Sulzer impeachment trial, the latter indulging in a scathing denunciation of the executive under charges. The argument closed on Friday night, and a vote will be taken Monday.

President Wilson in a letter to the editor of the Washington Post asked for a retraction of the statement that he said any Democrat who voted against him in the currency legislation was a rebel. Frank A. Vanderlp of New York was before the currency committee Wednesday, opposing some sections of the proposed bill, approving others.

Miss Ruth Hildreth was killed and her sister Dorothy Hildreth, was injured Tuesday afternoon in Hammondsport, N. Y. when Lincoln Beachey lost control of a 100-horse power aeroplane and it swept a number of spectators off a roof from which they were watching the exhibition. when the aeroplane was over the heads of the Hildreth party the machine dropped, sweeping to the ground. It then careened wildly and plunged to the earth, unseating the aviator and wrecking the machine.

THE QUEEN.

(Eggs valued at a billion dollars are laid every year in America.)—News Item.

Let others sing the beauties of the stage
Who start volcanoes in the hearts of men.
With holier joy I hymn upon this page
The hen.

The humble hen? O fool who writes it so!
Her praises call for flame upon the pen!
Yea; geniuses come hurrying to know
The hen.

By her sweet cackle are the joy-fires lit,
When Mr. Farmer lifts his mortgage debt.
Serene upon her throne behold her sit
And set!

O Midas, in your money-market pride!
O golden spider, spinning in your den!
You are not one-two-twenty-three beside
The hen!

Now let the mints go fill the treasure trunks,
But tell me where upon this little sphere
Is there a mint that lays one billion plunks
Per year?

Skyscrapers tower in the crowded town,
But they resemble puny ant-hills when
High-throwned upon her coop, in love we crown
The hen.

Pooh! for the Steel Trust, billioned though it be.
Bah! for the Oil Trust, boosting gasoline.
Exalted far above them, can't you see
Our queen?

O suffrage States, where dame as well as gent
May seek all honors of the citizen!
Write on your banners, "For Next President,
The Hen!"

Brief News Stories of The Carolinas

Three schooners reported leaking and distress at Southport, N. C.,

Dr. J. J. McKanna has leased the building of St. Luke's hospital in Fayetteville and will open a liquor-cure hospital there.

Hickory was chosen as the next place of meeting of the North Carolina Synod at the sessions as Greensboro, Thursday night.

Maj. John D. Shaw, Richmond county's foremost citizen, died Thursday morning after a few hours of illness, aged 80 years

The Baracas and Philatheas are preparing for the celebration of their 23rd anniversary on October 17th, the celebration being country-wide.

Secretary Bryan Tuesday spoke at Kings Mountain at the anniversary celebration; at Asheville at night and at Knoxville at the Appalachian Exposition the following day.

An incipient riot broke out at Moss Neck, Robeson county, Thursday when a large crowd gathered to fish in the mill pond there when it was drawn off. The trouble started when a negro fired on a Cherokee deputy sheriff, the fire being returned.

The Presbyterian Synod in session at Greensboro the past week elected Rev. McG. Shields, of Greensboro, moderator; E. L. Siler, of Montreat, recording clerk, and J. E. Summers, of Concord, reading clerk.

The Kellum beer bill in the Legislature was adversely reported 5 to 2 in Raleigh Monday afternoon, after a delegation from Wilmington had spoken in its favor, including two of the five members of City Council.

Disturbances along the coast of the Carolinas continued to Saturday with very heavy rains throughout the coastal country. At Lumberton, N. C., the fall was more than 4 1-2 inches for the 24 hours ending at 8 A. M., Friday.

Mr. J. A. Bradshaw, who lives near town, captured a deer last Monday morning in the lane near his home. Mr. Bradshaw, though an old hunter, says this is the first one he has ever caught alive and is very proud of his catch.—Pender Chronicle.

The State Division, Daughters of the Confederacy, Thursday re-elected Mrs. Marshall Williams president and a number of the other officers, enjoying a delightful reception the same afternoon as the guests of Mrs. Thad W. Thrash. Raleigh is the next place of meeting.

The Thornton Lead and Steel Corporation at Hickory, was incorporated last week with an authorized capital stock of $500,000 with $125,000 subscribed by Col. M. E. Thornton, W. X. Reid and R. W. Curtis. The company will carry on the mining of lead and iron and other minerals.

At the Daughters of Confederacy sessions in Tarboro Wednesday action was taken toward the establishment of a permanent loan fund for vocational education and Mrs. W. J. Andrews and her sister, of Seattle, Washington, announced a gift of $3,000 to the Solid South room in the Confederate Museum at Richmond.

The lower House of the State Legislature Monday adopted a joint resolution for an investigation of fire insurance in the State with special reference to the Southeastern Tariff Association; a joint committee of both Houses heard Chairman Travis in opposition to the bill for a separate commission to handle public utilities.

Mr. R. M. Jackson, secretary of the Fayetteville Fair, says that the fair this year promises to be the greatest ever held in Fayetteville. There will be great attractions of various kinds, and on Wednesday, the 29th, every white school child under 15 years old, of Cumberland and adjoining counties, will be admitted free. The Fair starts the 28th.

Mr. F. B. Johnson has a two-acre field of alfalfa, of which he is rather proud. Already he has cut it twice this year and another growth is almost ready. The attempts to raise this crop in Sampson have met with more or less failure, though Mr. Johnson does not see why this should not come to be one of our most important crops.—Sampson Democrat.

The Senate put the finishing touches on acceptance of the proposal of the railroads for a freight rate settlement in the State at Raleigh Wednesday night by passing the bill after extended argument; the House the same night declined to create a separate public service commission and voted the Corporation Commission a rate expert and provided for attorneys' fees.

Hickory has accepted the bid of the American La France Fire Engine Co., of Elmira, N. Y., and made a contract with their representative, C. B. Payne of Atlanta, for a motor fire truck, the price named in the contract being $5,500. Delivery of the truck is to be made by December 15th. This truck is to be similar to those in use in Wilmington, Salisbury, Charlotte and other cities in the State.

While Mr. G. E. Hays was in town Thursday he gave The News a pleasant call, and related that he had hauled $813.32 worth of produce to market this Summer, most of it consisting of 1,142 eggs, 2,311 pounds of young chickens, 243 pounds of hams and 241 pounds of butter. He also said he sowed four and one-half bushels and reaped a harvest of 105 1-2 bushels of buckwheat.—Watauga News.

We learn that D. B. Mull has sold his interest in the Drexel Furniture Company to S. R. Collett, A. M. Kistler and F. O. Huffman. Mr. Mull and a number of Connelly Springs gentlemen have organized a company and are now erecting a hosiery mill at the latter place, to be known as Connelly Springs Hosiery Mill Company. Work is now progressing rapidly on the building for the enterprise. This is an enterprise that Morganton should have secured.—Morganton Messenger.

THE EASTERN CAROLINA FAIR

Everything in Readiness for Great Meeting This Month—Amusements and Exhibits Complete—Livestock.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., Oct. 11.—The finishing touches have been added and all is now in readiness for the great Eastern Carolina Fair to be held in Newbern on October 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st. For weeks the officers and directors of the Fair Association have been planning for this event and they have succeeded in arranging every little detail so that when the fair is thrown open to the public on the opening day the visitors will have the opportunity of attending the greatest event of its kind ever held in the Old North State.

One of the main features of a fair is its exhibits of livestock and also the exhibits of country produce. The exhibit of livestock and produce and also of fowl, bids fair to eclipse anything ever held in the State. Hundreds of dollars worth of valuable prizes have been offered in these departments and these have been an incentive to exhibitors to do their level best.

No fair is complete without amusements and this feature has been looked after very closely. Along the midway will be found the greatest variety of attractions ever gathered in this section at one time. Right here it will be well to state that there will not be a single attraction allowed to enter the grounds which can not be seen by the ladies and children. The Eastern Carolina Fair is a clean one and the officers intend to maintain this reputation. There will be freaks of all varieties on display, big snakes, old plantation shows, the palace of mystery, chute-the-chute, cane racks, shooting galleries and hundreds of other places where the visitor can get amusement for a small sum.

Wednesday and Thursday will be the "big days." Wednesday is "Educational Day" and every school child in this section of the State has been presented with a free ticket to the fair. Hon. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, will deliver the address for this occasion. Dr. Joyner is a speaker of ability and every person in this section who is interested in the educational advancement and development of the State should hear him.

Every day there will be free attractions in front of the largest grandstand in the State. The famous flying Glendales, one of the best aerial acts in the world, will give performances daily. At a great expense, the management have secured the services of Willis & Lewis, the king and queen of the acrobatic world. This duo recently closed an engagement at the New York hippodrome and are featuring the bounding hay wagon. This is a thriller and is sure to please.

Every day there will be horse and motorcycle racing and more than a thousand dollars are being offered as prizes to the contestants in these events. Speed kings from all over the country will participate in these events and it is safe to say that the races will be real thrillers.

The railroads are offering special rates to Newbern during the week of the fair and numerous special trains will be operated during the week. Information as to rates can be obtained from any ticket agent or by addressing J. Leon Williams, the secretary of the Fair Association.

Another thing that will interest the visitors is to know that there will be ample provision made for their entertainment while in the city and that there will be no raise in the prices in any way. The rates at the hotels, boarding houses and cafes will be just the same as usual and no fancy prices will be charged. Many persons will want to spend the entire week in the city and there will be numerous places prepared for their entertainment. Remember the dates of the big fair and be on hand. Stay the entire week if you can and if you cannot do this stay as long as you can and have the "time of your life."

THREE NEW BATTLESHIPS.

President Wilson Will Tell Cabinet His Plan.

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson will submit the administration three battleship programme to the cabinet next Tuesday.

Secretary Daniels and others are urging him to make it an "administration policy" and unite Democrats in its support before it goes into Congress. Already it has found much support in administration and congressional circles. A government armor plate factory is likely to be included.

Friends of a big navy programme in the administration were jubilant over the prospect of the three battleships being proposed in the new naval appropriation bill. The understanding among those close to administration leaders was that an adequate navy" policy as endorsed by President Wilson would provide for two battleships each year hereafter.

TAKE IT IN TIME

Just as Scores of Wilmington People Have.

Waiting doesn't pay.
If you neglect kidney backache,
Urinary troubles often follow.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney backache, and for other kidney ills.
Wilmington citizens endorse them.

J. F. Hansley, 406 Walnut St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "My back and kidneys troubled me a great deal and I think it was due to my being on my feet so much. I suffered from dull, dragging backaches and I could not stoop without having sharp twinges in my loins. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and there was sediment in them. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box from Bellamy's drug store and in a few days the pains and aches left. I have not had to use a kidney medicine since and I am glad to say that Doan's Kidney Pills brought me lasting benefit. You are welcome to continue publishing my former testimonial."

The Week Locally

The Wilmington public schools opened Monday with an increased attendance of 200 over last year.

A northeast storm, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain, visited the city Tuesday night though there was no damage.

Capt. W. J. Kermon, master of the government tug Mercur, died of heart trouble at his home Monday afternoon, aged 74 years.

The Boys' Brigade held its opening reception Thursday night with an elaborate musical programme and other entertaining features.

Mr. John Taylor, for many years a well known dry goods merchant of Wilmington, died late Thursday night at his home, aged 75 years.

It developed Monday that Mr. W. B. Cooper, president of the American National Bank, has typhoid fever at his residence on Fifth street.

J. Dallas Orrell, for many years a police sergeant of the city, died suddenly of heart trouble at his home, 606 Orange street, Sunday night, aged 69.

The Seaboard and Coast Line announced through the City Council Wednesday that they would bridge their tracks at Fourth street, near Hilton.

Mr. John T. French, eldest son of the late William A. French, died at his home Monday afternoon, aged 56 years. The funeral was conducted Tuesday.

The tax books of New Hanover county show for the year an increase of values of nearly two million dollars; there will be an increase of the revenue of the county about $35,000 over last year.

The Wilmington Pythians are preparing for a rally upon the coming of Grand Chancellor Pridgen here the night of October 31st. Supreme Representative Penniman, of Massachusetts, will lecture.

DuPree, the negro who killed another at Pocomoke guano factory, was captured Tuesday at Sanford, N. C., and returned to the city; two of the witnesses in the case were indicted for perjury before Magistrate Harriss.

The greatest interest was manifested during the week in the world's series of baseball games, crowds gathering in the street in front of the newspaper offices to hear the returns; rain did not even daunt the more enthusiastic fans.

Gets Right Twist On Rheumatism

Makes Short Work of Cleaning Out Your Entire System—Aches and Pains Go Fast.

In S. S. S. You Get a Twist on Rheumatism That Settles It.

Many a rheumatic sufferer has been to the drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and been handed something claimed to be "just as good." Truly, to ask for bread and be given a stone is still in practice. If you are troubled with rheumatism in any form be sure to use S. S. S. and note its wonderful influence.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and ask for S. S. S.

You may depend upon it that the store that sells you what you ask for is a good place to trade. Write to the Swift Specific Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their Book on Rheumatism.

The International Sunday-School Lesson.

Motto for this week: "Star of Bethlehem for the State is over the school house; Star of Bethlehem for the Church is over the Sunday school."—Anon.

Fourth Quarter—Lesson II. Numbers 12. October 12, 1913.

Jealousy and Envy Punished.
(The Story.)

It is a marvel of literature, the fidelity with which the Bible pictures the faults of its heroes. No effort is made to create a series of ideally perfect characters. That is what would have happened if it had been a strictly human production. The Bible gives us its people exactly as they are, without effort to gloss or extenuate—Noah drunk—Abraham lying—Jacob deceiving—David an adulterer—Peter denying—Thomas doubting. * * * So in this instance, Aaron has been his brother's mate from the very inception of the Exodus—has shared his honors and responsibilities. He is the very incarnation of ecclesiasticism—the embodiment of objective religion as it expresses itself in ritual. On the other hand, Miriam, Moses' sister, is the Virgin Mary of the Old Testament—the foremost woman—organizing and voicing the praise of the people on the deliverance from Pharaoh and the Red Sea. * * * But, with terrible fidelity, the Bible pictures the fall of brother and sister from their high estate. And the cause of it is so very human. They are envious and jealous. Miriam has been the "First lady of the land," and has liked being it! But Moses' wife has arrived in camp, and Miriam, with a woman's quick intuition sees herself about to be displaced. The only way in which she can retain her laurels is to make herself equal to her brother Moses. This she proceeds to do by disparaging him and exalting herself. Her claim is that God has spoken by her as well as Moses. * * * Aaron follows Miriam in her folly. That the younger brother should be primate seems always to have stuck in his craw. It has led him into trouble before. It is another instance where "base envy withers another's joy and hates the excellence it cannot reach." * * * God nipped the insurrection in the bud. He dealt with it swiftly and directly. In unmistakable terms he established and confirmed Moses' primacy. He punished Miriam with the tell-tale disease of the Orient. Aaron goes far toward restoring himself in good graces of the reader by the promptness with which he shares his sister's guilt and cries to the very brother of whom he had been so jealous, "Lay not the sin upon us wherein we have done foolishly!" Like a mediator, he pleads for his sister. * * * The Bible does not afford finer illustration of contrition, confession and supplication than that of Aaron and Miriam. Their hearts were broken for and from their sin. They did not hesitate to offer the honorable amend to Moses, and thus, as far as possible, make restitution. The joy and blessedness of those whose sins are forgiven has bright example in this instance.

The Teacher's Lantern.

Nothing appeals so to the universal human heart as the age-old allegories of virtue in combat with evil, typified in giant or dragon. These are favorite themes of genius with pen, pencil, or chisel. They are immensely popular, and for teaching purposes are unsurpassed. But it remains for the Bible to concentrate them all in one—stripped of mere artistic and rhetorical embellishments, the human soul is pictured in mortal combat with all its own devlish and deadly propensities. The fight is to a finish; it is the real contest of which all others are mere figures. Immortal destiny of the soul turns upon the result! The talk of crowns and wreaths to the victor is mere rhetoric. The real reward is fixity of character in a righteousness which invincibly chooses the good, the true, the divine. * * * This intense and memorable picture should be the cure of ankle-deep notions of sin current in our day. The sin of sin is that it is done against God—his goodness and love! It is the deliberate crossing of his will or refusal to come up to his standard as expressed in his law. * * * How differently God looks upon sin finds expression in his dealing with this concrete case. To the mind of God it was no trivial lapse to be condoned and easily cured. The penalty visited was swift and terrible. The segregation of Miriam for seven days was in itself significant. If she had suffered some insult she would naturally retire from the public eye. So, in view of her own immoral act, she may well retreat and reflect. Same compunctions today would suggest reflection in solitude. * * * This paragraph contains one of the characteristic and wonderful parenthetical exclamations of the Bible: "Now the man Moses was meek above all the men who were upon the face of the earth." It is the only time in which Moses is called meek. It seems to have to connection with what precedes or follows. Moses was really a mighty, passionate, imperious man. But he had obtained what Ruskin calls the greatest possession—namely, self-possession! He had lost the passion for revenge. He no longer resented a personal indignity. The motive of this self-control was religious. It was exercised toward God. Here is no effeminacy, but really superlative heroism!

The Young People's Devotional Service.

October 12, 1913. 1 Corinthians, 13:1-13
Favorite Verses (V) in the Epistles.
(Honorary Members' Meeting.)

Love is the greatest thing in the world. In comparison to it, mere verbal eloquence is an empty clang. Its power is greater than that which removes mere physical obstructions, although they be mountainous. Without love, charity is vain and martyrdom resolves itself into mere fanaticism. Love eliminates the personal element from the equation. Pride and selfishness are impossible. It has superb staying qualities. It outlives prophecy, faith, and hope. Love is the greatest thing in the world!

Winning By a Presentment

By T. W. Chambliss.

It is not always easy to explain everything, Peculiar and perplexing events in the run of a man's life. Some people do not believe in "presentiments"—maybe there is nothing in the idea—but it would be pretty hard to convince this one man and there are others. The passing years have given me occasion to come to depend with some confidence on an "inner sense"—and in a number of instances the dependance has resulted well.

I remember a certain night—it was in mid-winter, in the Middle West. It was "blue-cold" and the wind was blowing across the prairies. At that time I was on the staff of a city daily newspaper and had been assigned to cover the news from the county seat—located ten miles from the city, but built up nearly all the way. The county seat town was a goodly sized town of possibly 12,000 people. It was the center of much news of importance but not sufficient for a relay of men and consequently I was practically on duty all day and all night. I had a competitor—the man who represented a rival daily of the same big city and he covered the same field with me. We were warm, personal friends, but bitter opposing workers—each with a longing to "beat" the other and watching each other constantly.

* * *

As I said, the night was cold—I kept close to my office through the early night. I had covered the routine and courts were not in session. The warm room was delightfully comfortable and every little while, the night policeman—the town had just one—would drop in for a little chat by the red-hot stove. Several preceding days had been remarkably dull from a news standpoint and it seemed to me that night as if it was just about time for something to "break" and as the night grew older the feeling became pronounced. It had been so many times before—days of deadly dullness and then, all of a sudden, things would happen, and "double-headers" follow each other with hardly time to catch a breath. It was a little peculiar how often the "break" would come just at the time when a fellow would have to hurry hard to get the story in time to catch the first edition. Sometimes, too late for the "flyer" as we called the first—we would catch the second and save a day. It was always, however, our determination to get everything for the edition which went out on the Fast Mail at 2:50 A. M. Many a good story was written with the speed of a mad-man in order to make the mail.

* * *

That particular night—I think it was close to 10 o'clock and I was decidedly nervous. The watchman dropped in and sitting by my office stove, the warmth o'er-powered him and he was nodding. I just knew that something "was doing" and yet for the very life of me, I could not explain the feeling. I could stand it no longer and for the 'teenth time I called "Central" and as usual the reply came in a drowsy tone—"Nothing doin'." I tried the four railway stations. Everything quiet. Fire department knew nothing. Hotels were resting easy. As a last resort I called the undertakers, one after the other. "Central" pleasantly wanted to know if I was crazy". I could get no clue. I kissed the nodding night policeman. I almost swore at me—"What 's the matter, Kid, there's nothing doin' tonight. Everybody is at home by the fire where decent folks stay." I could stand it no longer. I took down my heavy overcoat, pulled my cap over my face, just a little closer and started out into the night.

"Say, kid, where 're you goin'?" remarked the policeman.

"Really, I don't know," I replied, "but I feel just like there is something wrong and I'll walk about a bit and maybe I will get over it."

"You are silly, you had better stay here by the fire, it is bitter cold out there," he said to me.

I thought that he might be right—but I went on out, following the peculiar feeling which had taken possession of me.

I walked the deserted streets. There was no sign of life. Even the twinkling lights seemed to sneer at me as I walked. Then the clock in the Court House tower struck the hour, it was 11 o'clock. I stood and counted them and fervently wished that it was four hours later and I could call the night editor and tell him good night. The last stroke sounded. I turned toward the office with a sigh—and then!

Clearly I heard the steady hoof-beats of a horse on the pavement of the adjacent street. I stood and listened, the hoof-beats grew more distinct and the horse was moving more rapidly. I ran to the corner. Down the street, a block away, I could see a buggy drawn by a big white horse, it was passing under an arc light. It was turning the corner and as it turned, I caught a full fair look at the man driving.

It was a moment and the buggy was gone, the hoof-beats grew fainter and fainter. I stood as in a trance. What should I do?

The man in the buggy was my rival!

Where was he going? But it was the time for action. I rushed to my office, ordered the best horse in the livery stable and while it was coming, I telephoned the office. The night editor had no tips—he was out of sorts anyway and simply said—"Get it!"

At the livery stable they told me that the other man had started toward Sni Mills. That was all they knew and I knew that the other man was too smart to have told them anyway. Toward Sni Mills I started, and as I drove out of town, I was thinking of what the night editor said: "Get it!" Easy for an editor, sitting in a warm office on a bitter Winter night to tell another man to "get it."

Almost mid-night. Bitter cold. Dark as ink. Get it. Get what? I drove on and drove rapidly and after a while, growing accustomed to the darkness, I could distinguish a shadow ahead of me and I slackened speed and followed the shadow. Several miles we traveled in this fashion. Then the shadow disappeared and directly I came to the cross-roads. I stopped and wondered, which way did he go. I listened but could not hear a sound. I left it to chance and turned to the right and drove hard again. I did not catch the shadow. I was puzzled and about to turn back and try the other road.

Just at this time something happened. Out of the darkness came a group of horsemen. I stopped my horse and waited. I could only see shapes. They came nearer. They surrounded my buggy.

Glorious. I had struck it right. What was it? During the late afternoon one of the residents of the Hills had killed his wife. Later he had seriously injured the constable sent to arrest him. A posse of citizens had pursued him and close to 11 o'clock they had taken him and were on their way to the county seat to put him in jail. They told me the story. It was after 1 o'clock. It was ten miles to the county seat. They started on their way slowly, for in a covered wagon they had the injured officer and they must move carefully. They would reach the county seat about 3:30.

There were no rural telephones in those days. I drove like mad five miles further and it was a little railway station but the operator was game and sitting at his table I talked the story to him as he sent it over the wire to my paper and when we had finished we were both happy. I was happy because I had done my duty. He was happy because he had helped a fellow.

The other man? Yes, I will tell you about him. He made the wrong turn and went on for ten miles before he discovered his mistake and then he drove all the way back, reached the county seat about 5 A. M. "Scooped" and while trying to "scoop" me.

Was it just a "happen" so? As I drove back to town that bitter cold night. I remember again the words of the night editor, "Get it", and I remembered the presentiment and I decided that I would watch for those feelings of unrest. I could not explain them, but it would pay to follow a scent.

When I reached town, before I went to bed, I filed a telegram to my night editor, just two words. "Got it."

Nurse Proclaims Skin Cure

Myrtle Hahn Says D. D. D. Prescription is Worth Rockefeller's Millions to Her.

"Ten years I suffered with eczema—three years of that time I could not appear in public. My entire body was covered with the disease. I could not eat. I could not sleep. I could not live. I have at last found the great Prescription D. D. D. My body is clean, smooth. If there were one bottle only of D. D. D. in the world and I had it, Mr. Rockefeller's millions could not buy the golden fluid."

Nurse Myrtle Hahn (in care Old Ladies' Home, Durham, N. C.)

How about you?

If you have any skin blemish or a little rash, do not let it develop into something more serious. Remember D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for fifteen years as the standard skin remedy. It always helps, and if used according to directions, it should cure in a short while.

All druggists sell this standard remedy, but if you come to us, we will offer you the first full size bottle with the guarantee that unless it stops the itch at once we will refund the purchase price. Ask also about the equally efficient skin soap.

appreciate. The fresh water lake southwest and adjoining our new section, will be dredged to a depth of safety and a walk built around the same with a hard road from Lake Park avenue circling the walk. We are confident the public appreciate this body of water. We know of no other beach in the United States that has a lake of fresh water the size of this one within one thousand feet of the ocean.

"We have not completed negotiations, but feel satisfied that Carolina Beach will have an up-to-date hotel erected in time to take care of the coming season's business."

Why has the demand for lots been so great? "That is easily explained," says Mr. Loughlin.

"Carolina Beach is the only beach on the South Atlantic coast accessible to mainland and is therefore absolutely safe in the event of storms. We have had no severe storms on this coast in the past ten years, but should we have one, there is not the slightest danger of loss of life on Carolina Beach. This fact is presentable to the most skeptical upon his first visit or may be seen at a glance by referring to our Aerial Prospectus, center page of our booklet."

"Yes, our efforts this Winter will be along lines of improvement. We are spending our income from properties sold to enhance their values.

UNIVERSITY LECTURES.

Professors to Visit Different Sections of North Carolina.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 9.—The biggest forward step the University of North Carolina has ever taken to extend its field of service and usefulness among the people of North Carolina was to arrange a series of lectures to be given by its faculty in different communities throughout North Carolina from time to time during the school year 1913-14. These lectures are to be mostly practical. They will consist of sound, practical advice given in a clear way to those who need it worst. The territory to be covered by the faculty has not as yet been apportioned out, but the idea the University has will be to visit every section of North Carolina, and to give to each field the specific information that it needs.

The forests of Norway are mostly in private or municipal ownership, the nation owning 28.5 per cent. of the total forest area. The National forests of the United States occupy only about twenty per cent. of the total forest area of the country.

"GETS-IT" Is a Wonder for Corns

No Fuss, No Pain, Sure and Quick. Nothing Like It. "Gets" Them Every Time.

You never used anything like "GETS-IT" for corns, before! You're sure at last that every stubborn corn that you've tried so long to get rid of is a "goner." You apply "GETS-IT" in 2 seconds, that's all. "GETS-IT" does the rest. There's no more fussing, no more bandages to fix, no more salves to burn the flesh red and raw. No more plasters to get misplaced and press on the corn. No more "pulling," no more pain, no more picking and gouging, no more razors.

"Nobody Knows How Good I Feel. Corns Are Gone At Last. "GETS-IT" Did It!"

"GETS-IT" stops pain, shrivels up the corn, and the corn vanishes. "GETS-IT" never fails, is harmless to healthy flesh. Warts, calluses and bunions disappear.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, COUNTY of New Hanover.—Gertrude Burnett vs. Allison E. Burnett.

This is an action brought by the plaintiff in the above entitled cause against the defendant above named for divorce on statutory grounds, and it being made to appear that Allison E. Burnett is a non-resident of the State of North Carolina and cannot after due diligence be found in said State,

This is, therefore, to notify the said defendant to appear at the October term of the Superior Court, to be held for the County of New Hanover, on the seventh Monday after the first Monday in September, 1913, then and there to answer or demur to the complaint of the plaintiff, or else judgment will be granted, according to the prayer of the complainant.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal of office this 6th day of September, 1913.

W. N. HARRISS,
Clerk Superior Court New Hanover County.
